Gender, Mobilities, and Livelihood Transformations Ragnhild Lund, Kyoko Kusakabe, Smita Mishra Panda, Yunxian Wang, 2013-08-29 In the era of globalization many minority populations are subject to marginalization and expulsion from their traditional habitats due to rapid economic restructuring and changing politico spatial relations This book presents an analytical framework for understanding how mobility is an inherent part of such changes The book demonstrates how current neoliberal policies are making people increasingly on the move whether voluntarily or forced and whether individually as family or as whole communities and how such mobility is changing the livelihoods of indigenous people with particular focus on how these transformations are gendered It queries how state policies and cross border and cross regional connections have shaped and redefined the livelihood patterns rights and citizenship identities and gender relations of indigenous peoples It also identifies the dynamic changes that indigenous men and women are facing given rapid infrastructure improvements and commercialization and or industrialization in their places of Environment With a focus on mobility this innovative book gives students and researchers in development studies gender studies human geography anthropology and Asian studies a more realistic assessment of peoples livelihood choices under a time of rapid transformation and the knowledge produced may add value to present development policies and practices Changing Occupational Structure of Scheduled Tribes

Rama Shankar Singh, 1986 With reference to Chotanagpur region of Bihar India Thoughts on redesigning tribal education D. C. Nanjunda, 2008 India is a multi racial country Different parts have different cultural traits and levels of development It is not uncommon to find that there are certain tribes which are not yet touched even by the fringe of civilization Aboriginal are examples of this The word tribe is taken to denote a primary aggregate of people lining under primitive or barbarous condition under a headman or chief Tribes is a group of families living as a community under one or more chiefs united by language and customs The main and vital objective of this volume is to make in the book a few selected articles that represent some kind of contributions to the knowledge of tribal education While writing the articles I have tried completely to emphasis on concept principles and applied aspects of tribal education This volume will be highly useful to faculty members researchers policy makers local self govt and NGOs working on tribal development and to the general public

The Changing Status of Women in West Bengal, 1970-2000 Jasodhara Bagchi, Sarmistha Dutta Gupta, 2005-01-24 This important and comprehensive volume vividly depicts the current status of women and girls in West Bengal The analysis has been conducted in the framework of the socio economic and politico cultural ambience that has characterized the state in recent decades The contributors highlight both areas of strength and vulnerability and clearly demonstrate that the status of women cannot be conceived as monolithic or static it has many facets and is in a state of constant flux The analysis of macro data is supported by revealing micro studies based on field surveys and an examination of cultural trends Development of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in India Jagan Karade,2009-05-05 The present volume on The Development of SCs and STs in India contains several contributors on various aspects relating to problem and development of SCs and STs These contributions have been transpired form reputed academicians and research scholars in the Universities and Colleges The book emphasized on development of SCs and STs in India A clear sighted and well researched view on the problem have been put forth in this volume The present exposition through critical analyses is an objective attempt to understand the reality relating to various strategies and schemes being followed for SCs STs development in India This book will certainly prove of immense values to all those interested in Development of SCs and STs especially the planners and policy makers in evolving an appropriate viable strategy for development in the coming years
