The Chinese:

A General Description of the Empire of China and Its Inhabitants Sir John Francis Davis, 1846      The Chinese Sir John Francis Davis, 1840      The Chinese John Francis Davis, 1846      The Chinese Sir John Francis Davis, 1844      The Chinese Recorder Index Kathleen L. Lodwick, 1986

The Chinese Recorder Index is the only complete index and research guide to the Chinese Recorder and Missionary Recorder. The core of this monumental work is three separate indexes. The Persons Index includes every individual who is mentioned at least four times over the run of the journal. Index entries for each person are keyed to indicate the location of such biographical information as his or her title, denominational affiliation, dates and locations of service in China, and names of spouse and children, as well as any articles he or she contributed to the Recorder. The Missions and Organizations Index includes references to mission locations, personnel, finances, converts, made attacks, sustained, and other data, and to hospitals, schools, opium refuges, and orphanages. The Subject Index includes references to the many topics covered in the Recorder. Following these indexes are lists that provide quick reference to specific information such as persons and missions by location, women, and medical doctors.

The Chinese Sir John Francis Davis, 1844      Origin of the Chinese People John Ross, 1915      The Chinese Sir John Francis Davis, 1845      The Chinese: a General Description of China and Its Inhabitants; a New Edition John Francis Davis, 1851      The Chinese in Vancouver, 1945-80 Wing Chung Ng, 1999

Vancouver has one of the largest populations of Chinese in North America. In The Chinese in Vancouver Wing Chung Ng captures the fascinating story of the city's Chinese residents in their search for identity between 1945 and 1980. Ng also discusses the experiences of ethnic Chinese in various Southeast Asian countries and the United States, forcing a rethinking of Chineseness in the diaspora. Ng juxtaposes the cultural positions of different generations of Chinese immigrants and their Canadian-born descendants and unveils the ongoing struggle over the definition of being Chinese. Though not denying the reality of racism, Ng's account gives the Chinese people their own voice and shows that the Chinese in Vancouver had much to say and often disagreed among themselves about the meaning of being Chinese.

Wang, 2nd Edition July 6, 2012

In The Chinese Dream, a groundbreaking book about the rising middle class in China, Forbes columnist and China expert Helen Wang challenges us to recognize that some of our fears about China are grossly misplaced. As a result of China's new capitalist paradigm, a burgeoning middle class, calculated to reach 800 million within the next fifteen years, is jumping aboard the consumerism train and riding it for all it's worth—a reality that may provide the answer to America's economic woes. And with China's increasing urbanization and top-down governmental approach, it now faces increasing energy, environmental, and health problems problems that the U S can help solve Through timely interviews personal stories and a historical perspective China born Wang takes us into the world of the Chinese entrepreneurial middle class to show how a growing global mindset and the realization of unity in diversity may ultimately provide the way to creating a saner safer world for all Revisiting The Chinese Learner Carol K.K. Chan, Nirmala Rao, 2010-03-10 It is seventeen years since I first formulated The paradox of the Chinese learner in a conference in Kathmandu Nepal My original formulation of the paradox was that westerners saw Chinese students as rote learning massive amounts of information in fierce exam dominated classrooms yet in international comparisons students in the Confucian heritage classrooms greatly outperformed western students learning in progressive western classrooms This seeming paradox raised all sorts of questions to which many others have contributed important answers especially that by Ference Marton on how Chinese learners construed the roles of memory and understanding in ways that were foreign to typical western educators Much of this work was brought together in The Chinese Learner 1996 edited by David Watkins and myself That work raised more questions still especially about educational contexts beliefs and practices which were investigated in contributions to Teaching the Chinese Learner 2001 And now we have Revisiting the Chinese Learner which is a very timely collection of excellent contributions that take into account the many changes that have taken place since 2001 changes such as 1 The globalisation of education especially through educational technology and enormous socio economic changes especially in China itself 2 Changes in educational policy aims curriculum and organization and decentralisation of educational decision making in many Confucian heritage cultures 3 Shanghai: Its Municipality and the Chinese Anatol M.
