The Chocolate Cobweb:

The Chocolate Cobweb Charlotte Armstrong, 2012-02-21
Investigating her mysterious birth leads a bright young artist into peril. For a few hours after her birth Amanda Garth had two fathers. One was John the kind forthright man who would raise her. The other was Tobias Garrison a well known California artist who because of a mix up in the hospital's nursery briefly thought Amanda was his. The confusion was straightened out and the misunderstanding is forgotten for twenty three years when questions about her birth cause Amanda to approach the Garrisons. This could prove a deadly mistake. Someone in that poisonous family is plotting a murder and the last thing they want is another heir to the massive Garrison fortune. The quest for truth could mean death for the girl whose birth was shrouded in secrecy.

Dark History of Chocolate Emma Kay, 2021-11-01
A Dark History of Chocolate looks at our long relationship with this ancient food of the Gods. The book examines the impact of the cocoa bean trade on the economies of Britain and the rest of Europe as well as its influence on health, cultural and social trends over the centuries. Renowned food historian Emma Kay takes a look behind the facade of chocolate first as a hot drink and then as a sweet delving into the murky and mysterious aspects of its phenomenal global growth from a much prized hot beverage in pre-Columbian Central America to becoming an integral part of the cultural fabric of modern life. From the seductive corridors of Versailles, serial killers, witchcraft, medicine and war to its manufacturers, the street sellers, criminal gangs, explorers and the arts, chocolate has played a significant role in some of the world's deadliest and gruesome histories. If you thought chocolate was all Easter bunnies, romance and gratuity then you only know half the story. This most ancient of foods has a heritage rooted in exploitation, temptation and mystery. With the power to be both life giving and ruinous.

The Late Films of Claude Chabrol Jacob Leigh, 2017-10-19
A member of the French New Wave group of filmmakers who first came to prominence at the end of the 1950s, Claude Chabrol has received the least amount of critical and scholarly attention although he was the more prolific and commercially successful of them all. Jacob Leigh fills this lacuna by focusing on the last nine feature films of Chabrol's career, exploring his imagery, camerawork, use of sound and music, and performances, revealing the stylistic characteristics of his films while identifying the fundamental thematic issues that lie at the heart of his career-length exploration of the relationship between individuals and societies. Key areas of focus include Chabrol's careful depiction of upper class settings in films such as La Cerimonie (1995), Merci pour le chocolat (2000) and La Fille coupée en deux (2007) and on what Robin Wood and Michael Walker call the "beast in man" (1970), the quasi-sympathetic id figures of which Le Boucher's Popaul is the most celebrated. Chabrol's id figures inherit the traits of Shadow of a Doubt's Uncle Charlie, Rope's Brandon, and Strangers on a Train's Bruno, all three of whom have characteristics of the Nietzsche quoting psychopath familiar in crime fiction. Additionally, The Late Films of Claude Chabrol considers the influence on Chabrol of a range of significant writers including Patrick Hamilton, Patricia Highsmith, Charlotte Armstrong, and Ruth Rendell.
