The 5x questions checklist for an effective hybrid workplace model

01

What do people want?

As mentioned above, a successful hybrid work strategy and hybrid workplace model can only work if it is designed for the people.

Before making any significant decisions or investments, it is important to understand the preferences, needs, and expectations of the employees, their families, and the organization as a whole. This can be done through surveys, focus groups, and other research methods.

The next step is to build a model that meets the needs of all stakeholders. This involves identifying the most common challenges and opportunities and developing a plan to address them.

Once you have a model, it is important to test it with a small group of employees and managers. This will help you understand how the model works in practice and what changes are needed to make it more effective.
