Yesterdays Augusta:

Yesterday's Augusta Arthur Ray Rowland, Helen Callahan, 1976 The Courthouse and the Depot Wilber W. Caldwell, 2001 Their songs insist that the arrival of the railroad and the appearance of the tiny depot often created such hope that it inspired the construction of the architectural extravaganzas that were the courthouses of the era In these buildings the distorted myth of the Old South collided head on with the equally deformed myth of the New South The Lost Freedmen's Town of Hamburg, South Carolina Michael S. Smith, 2021-04-05 Hamburg is perhaps South Carolina's most famous ghost town Founded in 1821 it grew to four thousand residents before transportation advances led to decline During Reconstruction recently freed slaves reshaped Hamburg into a freedmen's village where residents held local county and state offices These gains were wiped away after the Hamburg Massacre in 1876 a watershed event that left seven African Americans dead most of them executed in cold blood Yet more than a century after Hamburg the one white supremacist killed in the melee is canonized by the racially divisive Meriwether Monument in downtown North Augusta Author Michael Smith details the amazing events that created this unique community with a lasting legacy America 1933 Michael Golay, 2016-01-12 The first account of the remarkable eighteen month journey of Lorena Hickok intimate friend of Eleanor Roosevelt throughout the country during the worst of the Great Depression bearing witness to the unprecedented ravaged During the harshest year of the Great Depression Lorena Hickok a top woman news reporter of the day and intimate friend of Eleanor Roosevelt was hired by FDR's right hand man Harry Hopkins to embark upon a grueling journey to the hardest hit areas across the country to report back about the degree of devastation Distinguished historian Michael Golay draws on a trove of original sources including moving and remarkably intimate almost daily letters between Hickok and Eleanor Roosevelt as he re-creates that extraordinary journey Hickok traveled almost nonstop for eighteen months from January 1933 to August 1934 driving through hellish dust storms rebellion by coal workers in Pennsylvania and West Virginia and a near revolution by Midwest farmers A brilliant observer Hickok's searing and deeply empathetic reports to Hopkins and her letters to Mrs Roosevelt are an unparalleled record of the worst economic disaster in the history of the country Historically important they crucially influenced the scope and strategy of the Roosevelt Administration's unprecedented relief efforts America 1933 reveals Hickok's pivotal contribution to the policies of the New Deal and sheds light on her intense but ill-fated relationship with Eleanor Roosevelt and the forces that inevitably came between them A Clashing of the Soul Leroy Davis, 1998 John Hope 1868-1936 the first African American president of Morehouse College and Atlanta University was one of the most distinguished in the pantheon of early twentieth century black educators Born of a mixed race union in Augusta Georgia shortly after the Civil War Hope had a lifelong commitment to black public and private education adequate housing and health care job opportunities and civil rights that never wavered Hope became a black college education what Booker T Washington was to black industrial education Leroy Davis examines the conflict inherent in Hope's attempt to balance his joint roles as college president and national leader Along with his good friend W E B Du Bois Hope was at the forefront of the radical faction of black leaders in the early twentieth century but he found himself taking more moderate stances in order to obtain philanthropic funds for black higher education The story of Hope s life illuminates many complexities that vexed African American leaders in a free but segregated society

Monuments to the Lost Cause Cynthia J. Mills, Pamela Hemenway Simpson, 2003 This richly illustrated collection of fourteen essays examines the ways in which Confederate memorials from Monument Avenue to Stone Mountain and the public rituals surrounding them testify to the tenets of the Lost Cause a romanticized narrative of the war Several essays highlight the creative leading role played by women s groups in memorialization while others explore the alternative ways in which people outside white southern culture wrote their very different histories on the southern landscape The authors who include Richard Guy Wilson Catherine W Bishir W Fitzhugh Brundage and William M S Ramussen trace the origins objectives and changing consequences of Confederate monuments over time and the dynamics of individuals and organizations that sponsored them Thus these essays extend the growing literature on the rhetoric of the Lost Cause by shifting the focus to the realm of the visual They are especially relevant in the present day when Confederate symbols and monuments continue to play a central role in a public and often emotionally charged debate about how the South s past should be remembered The editors Art Historian Cynthia Mills a specialist in nineteenth century public sculpture is executive editor of American Art the scholarly journal of the Smithsonian American Art Museum Pamela H Simpson is the Ernest Williams II Professor of Art History at Washington and Lee University She is the coauthor of The Architecture of Historic Lexington *Catalog of Copyright Entries.
