Spree Killers:

Spree Killers Mark Safarik, Katherine Ramsland, 2019-10-18 Spree Killers Practical Classifications for Law Enforcement and Criminology is the only exhaustive up to date analytical book on spree killers standing apart from those dedicated to mass murderers and serial killers. Multicides have traditionally been categorized as double triple mass serial and spree while mass and serial have been further divided into subcategories. Spree killing which involves the killing of at least three persons at two or more locations due to a precipitating incident that fuels the urge to kill remains a poorly defined concept. In the United States the Federal Bureau of Investigation FBI eliminated this term from its multicide nomenclature in 2005 but the authors examination of 359 cases involving 419 spree killers from 43 countries shows that not only is there enough diversity among spree killers to form classifications similar to those devised for mass and serial but also that subtypes offer distinct utility for identification tracking and warning potential targets. Spree Killers outline the designation of spree killer specifically and thoroughly. In addition to looking at existing literature specific cases and the behavioral patterns it offers a fully worked up profile for the typology. The behaviors and motives for spree killers align in six categories which are detailed in full. The book provides unique insight for police forensic and investigative personnel into what to look for to respond to and in some cases identify and stopping certain types of spree killings.

Spree Killers A Crockett, 1993-11. Covers among others Charles Whitman Richard Speck John List Patrick Sherrill James Huberty and Charles Starkweather.

The Minds of Mass Killers P. Shavaun Scott, 2021-11-12. Public mass killings are becoming more common. Though the chances of being harmed or killed in a mass shooting are slim each incident affects the public's sense of safety. There are many myths and falsehoods concerning mass murderers. As a result the public lacks reliable knowledge about the reasons behind such killings preventing the development of comprehensive strategies to mitigate the violence. Written by a mental health therapist with thirty years of clinical experience in violence prevention this book clarifies the realities of mass killings. Using research from forensic psychology it provides a foundation for understanding the pathway to violence identified in the personal histories of many mass murderers. Drawing from criminology neuroscience and developmental and social psychology the author makes the case that we are all capable of creating a safer society.

Spree Killers Al Cimino, Nigel Cawthorne, 2010. Spree killers are probably the most notorious and infamous of all multiple murderers yet these criminals confuse and fascinate us more than any other. Kids going on the rampage have captured the headlines recently but William Cruse was a sixty one year old retired librarian when one day he snapped killing six including two policemen then attempting to kill another 24. Nor is it possible to understand why the perpetrators kill many of whom were killed by the police at the end of their sprees and therefore unanswerable to their crimes. Those who survived are usually certified insane famously when Brenda Spencer who had killed two and wounded nine was asked why she had done it she simply replied I dont like Monday. Spree Killers provides the horribly fascinating sometimes enigmatic and inexplicable but always terrifyingly gripping stories of 45 spree killers from the first recorded incident in 1913 through to the most recent high school and shopping mall slaughters Entries include Charles Whitman the sniper in the tower Texas 1966 killed 15 wounded 32 Brenda Spencer San Diego 1979 killed two wounded nine Edward Mann Maryland 1982 killed two wounded eight Woo Bum kon South Korea killed 57 wounded 35 Marc Lepine Montreal 1989 killed 14 wounded 14 Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold Columbine 1999 killed 13 wounded 24 Abbas al Baqir Abbas Sudan killed 27 wounded 53 Virgin Tech massacre 2007 killed 32 wounded 17 Isaac Zamora Washington state 2008 killed six wounded two Tim Kretschmer Germany 2009 killed of 15 wounded nine Jiverly Antares Wong Birmingham Alabama 2009 killed 14
