

PUBLIC SPEAKING

OVERVIEW

Parts of a Speech

- A speech has three main parts
 - Introduction: Gains audience attention, orients the listener to your topic, and prepares them for your speech
 - Body: Contains at least 75% of the information you will speak about. It is divided into 3-5 main points. Each main point is clearly stated and supported by sub-points containing your research and supporting material
 - Conclusion: Reviews your main points and provides closure by ending with a strong final statement
- The delivery of a speech is effective when the speaker knows the material well, maintains eye contact with the audience, uses a variety of vocal changes, and appears to move naturally

Types of Speeches

- A informative speech, or report, lecture, or workshop is designed to explain, instruct, define, clarify, demonstrate, or teach
 - Can be formal or informal
 - While it is important to keep the audience's attention, and audience enjoyment is a bonus, the main motivation is to be a distraction
 - Used in conferences, educational institutions, and workplaces

- Persuasive speeches, debates, sales presentations, and speeches influence, convince, motivate, call products, preach, or stimulate action
 - Must inspire purposeful emotion
 - Audience entertainment is irrelevant as long as they are getting attention
- The expository speech entertains, informs, or helps listeners to collaborate, bond, or communicate
 - Is most often informal
 - Should inspire emotion, only successful if the audience enjoys it
 - Used in political contexts, wedding parties, and events
- The improvised speech requires you to speak on the spot at the moment with little or no preparation time
 - You can successfully do this by thinking of two to three main points as you may say to the front of the room
 - If you think you might be asked to do one, even five minutes of preparation will make those main points
 - Used in workplaces, USA sessions, wedding parties, and company gatherings
- The storytelling speech enhances one's cultural identity by building a common understanding of tradition, morals, values, goals, and desires
 - Entertains and unites listeners
 - Confirms and reinforces and expository speech styles

ANALYZE YOUR AUDIENCE

- Analyze the demographics and attitudes of your audience
 - Consider how your audience's knowledge of your topic and point of view will affect the way you will deliver your message
 - Think about your audience's intended reaction to your message, and structure your words and ideas accordingly
 - Determine how you will address information in relation to your audience's age, gender, ethnicity, and status
 - Anticipate whether your audience will agree, remain neutral, or disagree with your message
- When possible, collect information about your audience before you begin your speech
 - Interview selected audience members to gain insight into the views of the audience
 - Observe the audience, or draw from your general observations
 - Use a survey questionnaire to poll your audience on a group of people with related characteristics
 - Ask a lecturer to lend you to speak about your audience and their points of view

SPEECH TOPICS

- Select and analyze your speech purpose and topic
 - Determine the purpose of your speech and decide which type of speech you are giving
 - Consider the occasion, audience expectations, circumstances surrounding your speech, and your own background and knowledge
 - Develop a list of possible topics
 - Some of the best speech topics are about subjects the speaker is unfamiliar with, but would like to learn more about
 - Writing about what you know and love lets you share your passion with your audience
 - Brainstorm for making
 - A list of everything you might want to speak about. Then ask a potential audience member which one sounds most interesting
 - A concept map, which allows you to generate ideas without evaluating them. It helps you develop a wide variety of choices. (See example at right)
- Once you have your topic, choose two to five main areas or ideas you will speak
- Next, a thesis statement should be distilled and stated in one single declarative sentence

This concept map shows an idea flow from a broad topic assignment to a speech about Southwest Airlines.
