Reframing Organizations Lee G. Bolman, Terrence E. Deal, 2003-08-27 Authors Lee Bolman and Terrence Deal explain how to use the powerful tool of reframing deliberately looking at situations from more than one vantage point to bring order out of confusion and to build high performing responsive organizations Team Zebra Stephen J. Frangos, Steven J. Bennett, 1993 Team Zebra The critically acclaimed insider s account of how an American company turned to its people and pulled off the turnaround of the decade Team Zebra is a spirited powerful description of a business snatching victory from the jaws of defeat Frangos with a burst of energy describes the process that moved his team from uncertainty fear and distrust to clarity confidence and quick action Calhoun Wick coauthor of The Learning Edge and President of Wick Company Team Zebra is a portrayal of how a business transformation was achieved through empowerment It reminds us that the power to succeed lies within our people and the way in which they re inspired motivated and included John P McCarthy Jr Senior Vice President and Director of Corporate Human Resources Eastman Kodak Company Team Zebra is an exhilarating chronicle of a Kodak division s rise from the ashes to the winner s circle There are important lessons here for every manager Jack Zenger Chairman Zenger Miller Well worthwhile to read Team Zebra describes a potential model for how an increasing number of organizations will have to look and operate to improve performance But equally important Team Zebra also details the behaviors and skills necessary for making such organizations work Frank Ostroff Management Consultant McKinsey Company Western Field ,1905 Box Office ,1955 The Farmer's Weekly ,1924 The Zebra's Voice National Museum and Art Gallery (Botswana), 1981 Hunters and hunted, pictures and pages of animal life Harrison William Weir, 1892 Lakeland Boating ,1991 Seeing Nature Through Gender Virginia Scharff, 2003 Environmental history has traditionally told the story of Man and Nature Scholars have too frequently overlooked the ways in which their predominantly male subjects have themselves been shaped by gender Seeing Nature through Gender here reintroduces gender as a meaningful category of analysis for environmental history showing how women's actions, desires, and choices have shaped the world and seeing men as gendered actors as well. In thirteen essays that show how gendered ideas have shaped the ways in which people have represented, experienced, and consumed their world, Virginia Scharff and her coauthors explore interactions between gender and environment in history. Ranging from colonial borderlands to transnational boundaries, from mountaintop to marketplace, they focus on historical representations of humans and nature, on questions about consumption, on environmental politics, and on the complex reciprocal relations among human bodies and changing landscapes. They also challenge the ecofeminist position by challenging the notion that men and women are essentially different creatures with biologically different destinies. Each article shows how a person or group of people in history have understood nature in gendered terms and acted accordingly, often with dire consequences for other people and organisms. Here are considerations of the ways we study sexuality among birds, of William Byrd's masking sexual encounters in his account of an eighteenth-century expedition, of how the ecology of fire in a changing built environment has reshaped firefighters' own gendered identities. Some are playful, as in a piece on the evolution of snow bunnies, to shred Betties. Others are dead serious, as in a chilling portrait of how endocrine disruptors are reinventing humans, animals, and water systems from the cellular level out. Aiding and adding significantly to the enterprise of environmental history, Seeing Nature through Gender bridges gender history and environmental history in unexpected ways to show us how the natural world can remake the gendered patterns we've engraved on ourselves and on the planet.
