Weep Not, Child Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'ó, 1967 Two brothers Njoroge and Kamau stand on a garbage heap and look into their futures Njoroge is to attend school while Kamau will train to be a carpenter But this is Kenya and the times are against them In the forests the Mau Mau is waging war against the white government and the two brothers and their family need to decide where their loyalties lie For the practical Kamau the choice is simple but for Njoroge the scholar the dream of progress through learning is a hard one to give up The first East African novel published in English Weep Not Child is a moving book about the effects of the infamous Mau Mau uprising on the lives of ordinary men and women and on one family in particular Ngugi wa Thiong'o, Gender, and the Ethics of Postcolonial Reading Brendon Nicholls, 2016-05-06 This is the first comprehensive book length study of gender politics in Ngugi wa

Thiong'o's fiction Brendon Nicholls argues that mechanisms of gender subordination are strategically crucial to Ngugi's ideological project from his first novel to his most recent one Nicholls describes the historical pressures that lead Ngugi to represent women as he does and shows that the novels themselves are symptomatic of the cultural conditions that they address Reading Ngugi's fiction in terms of its Gikuyu allusions and references a gendered narrative of history emerges that creates transgressive spaces for women Nicholls bases his discussion on moments during the Mau Mau rebellion when women's contributions to the anticolonial struggle could not be reduced to a patriarchal narrative of Kenyan history and this interpretive maneuver permits a reading of Ngugi's fiction that accommodates female political and sexual agency Nicholls contributes to postcolonial theory by proposing a methodology for reading cultural difference This methodology critiques cultural practices like clitoridectomy in an ethical manner that seeks to avoid both cultural imperialism and cultural relativism His strategy of performative reading that is making the conditions of one text such as folklore history or translation active in another for example fiction literary narrative or nationalism makes possible an ethical reading of gender and of the conditions of reading in translation The Book in Africa C. Davis, D. Johnson, 2015-03-02 This volume presents new research and critical debates in African book history and brings together a range of disciplinary perspectives by leading scholars in the subject It includes case studies from across Africa ranging from third century manuscript traditions to twenty first century internet communications Ngugi Wa Thiong'o Patrick Williams, 1999 Ngugi Wa Thiong'o is one of the most important contemporary world writers his name has for many become synonymous with cultural controversy and political struggle Patrick Williams's lucid analysis offers the most up to date study of Ngugi's writing including his most recent collections of essays Focusing on important aspects of Ngugi's more obscure works and drawing on a wide range of relevant theoretical perspectives this study examines the growing complexity of Ngugi's accounts of the history of colonized and postcolonial Kenya The Facts on File Companion to the World Novel Michael Sollars, Arbolina Llamas Jennings, 2008
