MINANGKABAU WORLD VIEW Abraham Ilyas,2014-02-01 In everyday speaking the Minangkabau people will be angry if someone call them as people who don't know the Four. In their mind just only the four leg or animal do not know the four. This book present that main philosophy of Minangkabau people so called The Four. As one of the ethnic in Indonesia most of the people who live in West Sumatra are Minangkabau ethnic. Every Minangkabau has two lifestyle or lifeland the first is nagari as a motherland and the second is rantau referring to other land apart from their motherland. The consequence of that adat philosophy the Minangs always doing the the Two in their life. They always take care attention to son and nephew daughter and niece kampung and rantau raso and pareso cupak asli and cupak buatan heart and head quality and quantity aqimus sholata and atuz zakata right brain left brain etc or in new scientific is the digital binary information 0 and 1. All of these the Two says in proverb as Raso bring ascending pareso bring descending. The Minangkabau philosophy conclude that all the God creatures always duumvirate. Duumvirate or nan Duo the Two influences all man's character never one. Character one only belongs to God and we must believe it.

Social Anthropology Kevin Jack Riley,Clifford Wilcox,2017-07-28 Robert Redfield is remembered today primarily as an anthropologist but during his lifetime Redfield's cross disciplinary activity reflected a strong interest in infusing anthropological practice with sociological theory. Like a handful of other anthropologists including A R Radcliffe Brown and Bronislaw Malinowski who shared his interests during the 1920s through 1930s his works came to define a new subfield known as social anthropology. Redfield was distinct in being one of the first Americans to devote himself seriously to social anthropology a field dominated initially by British scholars. He spent his career at the University of Chicago and his anthropology bore the distinct mark of sociology as developed and practiced at that institution. Indeed Redfield played a major role in defining what has been called the second Chicago school of sociology. This volume brings together Redfield's most important contributions to social anthropology. During the 1920s sociology and anthropology constituted a single department at the University of Chicago. Although most students concentrated on sociology or anthropology Redfield chose to pursue both fields with equal intensity. He adopted as his central interest the leading problematic of the 1920s the study of social change. Chicago School sociologists approached social change by examining zones of rapid transition within the city for example areas populated by recently arrived immigrants with the goal of elucidating general principles or dynamics of social transition Redfield's work can be seen as falling into three distinct theoretical categories 1 the study of social change or modernization 2 peasant studies and 3 the comparative study of civilizations Drawing from articles book excerpts and unpublished papers and letters this work presents Redfield's central contributions in each of these areas Seen as a whole this volume traces Redfield's seminal contributions to the early development of mo

State without Religion? Jeroen Jans, 2022-12-07 In recent decades the Netherlands and Flanders have faced challenges in how to deal with a multicultural society As far as worldviews are concerned the question arises whether the state should guarantee a maximum level of choice concerning religion and humanism to individuals or leave a free space to the religious and humanist communities This study explores in how far committed Catholic Protestant Muslim and humanist youth agree with different models of the relationship between worldviews and the state against the backdrop of their religious and humanist beliefs as well as social determinants It does so by drawing on quantitative and qualitative empirical research The analyses show that overall most religious and humanist youth prefer the state to guarantee a maximum level of choice to individuals but also want the state to respect a substantial free space for communities Above all they want the state to treat worldviews equally before the law Their religious and humanist beliefs are the most significant determinants Jeroen Jans 1990 works at the Diocese of Hasselt and is a visiting researcher at Radboud University He performed his doctoral research at the Faculty of Philosophy Theology and Religious Studies
