Virtual Ethnography Daniel Domínguez Figaredo, 2016 Current approaches in the ethnographic study of the Internet are diverse the proliferation of proposals has been numerous in recent years The methodological approach of virtual ethnography has been broadened and reformulated through new proposals such as digital ethnography ethnography on of through the Internet connective ethnography networked ethnography cyberethnography etc Each of these maintains its own dialogue with the established tradition of ethnography and formulates its relation to this tradition in different ways There are those who consider that virtual ethnography involves a distinctive methodological approach and those who consider that researching the Internet ethnographically forces us to reflect on fundamental assumptions and concepts of ethnography but that it doesn't mean a distinctive form of ethnography

Ethnography for the Internet Christine Hine, 2015-01-29 The internet has become embedded into our daily lives no longer an esoteric phenomenon but instead an unremarkable way of carrying out our interactions with one another Online and offline are interwoven in everyday experience Using the internet has become accepted as a way of being present in the world rather than a means of accessing some discrete virtual domain Ethnographers of these contemporary Internet infused societies consequently find themselves facing serious methodological dilemmas where should they go what should they do there and how can they acquire robust knowledge about what people do in through and with the internet This book presents an overview of the challenges faced by ethnographers who wish to understand activities that involve the internet Suitable for both new and experienced ethnographers it explores both methodological principles and practical strategies for coming to terms with the definition of field sites the connections between online and offline and the changing nature of embodied experience Examples are drawn from a wide range of settings including ethnographies of scientific institutions television social media and locally based gift giving networks
