Dealy, Andrew R. Thomas, 2004-03-30 What makes a great boss Bosses don't become great because of their title rank degree of authority office size or benefits package Great bosses aren't even necessarily great managers Instead they possess a set of core competencies that set them apart from mere managers The skill set of great bosses entails five qualities they do the right thing for the right reason they never make the same mistake twice they set their personal expectations higher than those of their bosses they go to their bosses with action plans not problems and they follow up If a boss has only one of these characteristics he or she is probably very successful But application of all five defines what it means to be a great boss to be successful in good times and bad through change and adversity and to be recognized as such by the people you work for as well as by the people who work for you The Tariff, 1922 Thomas Jefferson, His Permanent Influence on American Institutions John Sharp Williams, 1913 Looks at the influence of Thomas Jefferson as a Virginian a revolutionist a diplomat and as President of the United States Extension service circulars, 1926 Journal California.
