Each entry lists 6-12 of the best known books on the subject, then discusses those works in an essay of 800 to 1 000 words prepared by an expert in the field. Architecture, 1916 A Dictionary of Architecture and Building Russell Sturgis, 1902 Victorian Architecture James Stevens Curl, 1990 The Architects of London and Their Buildings from 1066 to the Present Day Alastair Service, 1979 Reassessing Nikolaus Pevsner Peter Draper, 2017-07-05 Nikolaus Pevsner was one of the most important and influential art historians of the twentieth century. He opened up new areas of enquiry in the history of art, revolutionising architectural studies in England and playing a key role in establishing the discipline of design history. Through his lectures and broadcasts as well as the remarkable volumes in The Buildings of England series which made him a household name, he did much to encourage greater interest in and understanding of art and architecture among a wide public. This wide-ranging collection of essays based on papers delivered at the conference held at Birkbeck in celebration of the centenary of Pevsner's birth offers the first sustained critical assessment of Pevsner's achievements. With contributions by leading international scholars, the volume brings together a wealth of new material on Pevsner and his intellectual background both in Germany in the late 1920s and 1930s and in England particularly in the 1940s and 1950s.

The Battle of the Styles Bernard Porter, 2011-03-17 This title explores the controversy surrounding the design of the new Foreign Office in London during Britain's Imperial heyday. In 1855 it was decided to build a new block of government offices in London, starting with the Foreign and War Offices. The government offices competition came at what was probably looking back on it the zenith of Britain's confidence as a nation and international power. One would expect the mid-Victorians to have felt firstly pride in their current national situation and secondly the urge to commemorate this in the most important national building to be projected in twenty years. Porter uses the debates surrounding the building of these important new monuments to interrogate the very fabric of British society, culture and nation building. The discussion on so many issues: religion, nationality, empire, history, modernism, truth, morality, gender, quite apart from considerations of pure aesthetics, offers an unusual, perhaps even unique insight into the relationship between these matters and the culture of the time.
