Interactive Visualization of Categorical Data Sets John Beck, 2012. Many people in widely varied fields are exposed to categorical data describing myriad observations. The breadth of applications in which categorical data are used means that many of the people tasked to apply these data have not been trained in data analysis. Visualization of data is often used to alleviate this problem since visualization can convey relevant information in a non-mathematical manner. However, visualizations are frequently static, and the tools to create them are largely geared towards quantitative data. It is the purpose of this thesis to demonstrate a method which expands on the parallel coordinates method of visualization and uses a Google Maps style of interaction and view-dependent data presentation for visualizing and exploring categorical data that is accessible by non-experts and promotes the use of domain-specific knowledge. The parallel coordinates method has enjoyed increasing popularity in recent times but has several shortcomings. This thesis seeks to address some of these problems in a manner which involves not just addressing the final static image which is generated but the paradigm of interaction as well.

Visualization of categorical longitudinal and times series data Stephen J. Tueller, Richard A. Van Dorn, Georgiy V. Bobashev, 2016-02-10 Plotting growth curves is a powerful graphical approach used in exploratory data analysis for continuous longitudinal data However plotting growth curves for multiple participants rapidly becomes uninterpretable with categorical data Categorical data defines specific states e.g. being single married divorced And these states do not necessarily need to represent any hierarchical order Thus a trajectory becomes a sequence of states rather than a continuum We introduce a horizontal line plot that uses shade or color to differentiate between states on a categorical longitudinal variable for multiple participants With appropriate sorting stacking the horizontal lines representing each participant can reveal important patterns such as the shape of or heterogeneity in the trajectories We illustrate the plotting techniques for large sample sizes observed groups the exploration of unobserved latent classes large numbers of time points such as are found with intensive longitudinal designs or multivariate time series data individually varying times observation unique numbers of observations and missing data We used the R package longCatEDA to create the illustrations Illustrative data include both simulated data and alcohol consumption data in adult schizophrenics from the Clinical Antipsychotic Trials of Intervention Effectiveness
