The French Selection

The French Selection:

A First Grammar, introductory to the study of the French Language, in French Authors, without writing exercises, etc
Charles SMYTH (B.A.), 1842 A first grammar, introductory to the study of the French language Charles Smyth, 1842

Cultural Encounters in Translated Children's Literature Helen Frank, 2014-04-08 Cultural Encounters in Translated Children's Literature offers a detailed and innovative model of analysis for examining the complexities of translating children's literature and sheds light on the interpretive choices at work in moving texts from one culture to another. The core of the study addresses the issue of how images of a nation, locale, or country are constructed in translated children's literature, with the translation of Australian children's fiction into French serving as a case study. Issues examined include the selection of books for translation, the relationship between children's books and the national and international publishing industry, the packaging of translations, and the importance of titles, blurbs, and covers. The study also examines the linguistic and stylistic features specific to translating for children, intertextual references, the function of the translation in the target culture, didactic and pedagogical aims, euphemistic language, and explicitation and literariness in translated texts. The findings of the case study suggest that the most common constructs of Australia in French translations reveal a preponderance of traditional Eurocentric signifiers that identify Australia with the outback, the antipodes, the exotic, the wild, the unknown, the void, the end of the world, the young and innocent nation, and the Far West. Contemporary signifiers that construct Australia as urban, multicultural, Aboriginal, worldly, and inharmonious are seriously underrepresented. The study also shows that French translations are conventional, conservative, and didactic, showing preference for an exotic rather than local specificity, with systematic manipulation of Australian referents betraying a perception of Australia as antipodean, rural, and exotic. The significance of the study lies in underscoring the manner in which a given culture is constructed in another cultural milieu, especially through translated children's literature. Yearbook American Association of School Administrators, 1928 Includes list of members In War's Wake Gerard Daniel Cohen, 2012-10-01 After WWII Europe was awash in refugees. Never in modern times had so many been so destitute and displaced. No longer subjects of a single nation-state, this motley group of enemies and victims consisted of Jewish survivors of the Holocaust, ex-Soviet POWs, ex-forced laborers in the Third Reich, legions of people who fled the advancing Red Army, and many thousands uprooted by the sheer violence of the war. This book argues that postwar international relief operations went beyond their stated goal of civilian rehabilitation and contributed to the rise of a new internationalism, setting the terms on which future displaced persons would be treated by nations and NGOs. Reinventing French Aid Laure Humbert, 2021-05-20 Laure Humbert explores how humanitarian aid in occupied Germany was influenced by French politics of national recovery and Cold War rivalries. She examines the everyday encounters between French officials, members of new international organizations, relief workers, defeated Germans, and Displaced Persons who remained in the territory of the French zone prior to their repatriation or emigration By rendering relief workers and Displaced Persons visible she sheds lights on their role in shaping relief practices and addresses the neglected issue of the gendering of rehabilitation In doing so Humbert highlights different cultures of rehabilitation in part rooted in pre war ideas about overcoming poverty and war induced injuries and crucially she unearths the active and bottom up nature of the restoration of France s prestige Not only were relief workers concerned about the image of France circulating in DP camps but they also drew DP artists into the orbit of French cultural diplomacy in Germany
