One Poem in Search of a Translator Eugenia Loffredo, Manuela Perteghella, 2009 Translation is a journey a journey undertaken by the text hopping around the world and mischievously border crossing from one language to another from one culture to another For a translator this journey can become a truly creative engagement with the otherness of the source text an experience of self discovery leading to understanding and enrichment and ultimately towards a new text This singular literary experiment intends to magnify the idiosyncrasy of this translational journey In the process translation reveals itself as an increasingly creative activity rather than simply a linguistic transfer This volume consists of twelve translations of one poem Les Fen tres by the French poet Apollinaire The translators embarking on this project all from different backgrounds and working contexts poets professional translators academics visual artists were asked to engage with the inherent multimodality of this poem inspired by Robert Delaunay's Les Fen tres series of paintings The result is a kaleidoscopic diversity of approaches and final products Each translation is accompanied by self reflective commentary which provides insight into the complex process and experience of translation enticing the reader to join this journey too Critical Code Studies Mark C. Marino, 2020-03-10 An argument that we must read code for more than what it does we must consider what it means Computer source code has become part of popular discourse Code is read not only by programmers but by lawyers artists pundits reporters political activists and literary scholars it is used in political debate works of art popular entertainment and historical accounts In this book Mark Marino argues that code means more than merely what it does we must also consider what it means We need to learn to read code critically Marino presents a series of case studies ranging from the Climategate scandal to a hactivist art project on the US Mexico border as lessons in critical code reading Marino shows how in the process of its circulation the meaning of code changes beyond its functional role to include connotations and implications opening it up to interpretation and inference and misinterpretation and reappropriation The Climategate controversy for example stemmed from a misreading of a bit of placeholder code as a smoking gun that supposedly proved fabrication of climate data A poetry generator created by Nick Montfort was remixed and reimagined by other poets and subject to literary interpretation Each case study begins by presenting a small and self contained passage of code by coders as disparate as programming pioneer Grace Hopper and philosopher Friedrich Kittler and an accessible explanation of its context and functioning Marino then explores its extra functional significance demonstrating a variety of interpretive approaches The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2002 Goethe's Lyric Poems in English Translation
