Words about Pictures Perry Nodelman, 2013 A pioneering study of a unique narrative form Words about Pictures examines the special qualities of picture books books intended to educate or tell stories to young children Drawing from a number of aesthetic and literary sources Perry Nodelman explores the ways in which the interplay of the verbal and visual aspects of picture books conveys more narrative information and stimulation than either medium could achieve alone Moving from baby books alphabet books and word books to such well known children s picture books as Nancy Ekholm Burkert s Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs Gerald McDermott s Arrow to the Sun Maurice Sendak s Where the Wild Things Are and Chris Van Allsburg s The Garden of Abdul Gasazi Nodelman reveals how picture book narrative is affected by the exclusively visual information of picture book design and illustration as well as by the relationships between pictures and their complementary texts

The Janus-Face of Language: Where Are the Emotions in Words and the Words in Emotions? Cornelia Herbert, Thomas Ethofer, Andreas J. Fallgatter, Peter Walla, Georg Northoff, 2018-09-28 Language has long been considered independent from emotions In the last few years however research has accumulated empirical evidence against this theoretical belief of a purely cognitive based foundation of language In particular through research on emotional word processing it has been shown that processing of emotional words activates emotional brain structures elicits emotional facial expressions and modulates action tendencies of approach and avoidance probably in a similar manner as processing of non verbal emotional stimuli does In addition it has been shown that emotional content is already processed in the visual cortex in a facilitated manner which suggests that processing of emotional language content is able to circumvent in depth semantic analysis Yet this is only one side of the coin Very recent research putting words into context suggests that language may also construe emotions and that by studying word processing one can provide a window to one s own feelings All in all the empirical observations support the thesis of a close relationship between language and emotions at the level of word meaning as a specific evolutionary achievement of the human species As such this relationship seems to be different from the one between emotions and speech where emotional meaning is conveyed by nonverbal features of the voice But what does this relationship between written words and emotions theoretically imply for the processing of emotional information The present Research Topic and its related articles aim to provide answers to this question This book comprises several experimental studies investigating the brain structures and the time course of emotional word processing Included are studies examining the affective core dimensions underlying affective word processing and studies that show how these basic affective dimensions influence word processing in general as well as the interaction between words feelings and expressive behavior In addition new impetus comes from studies that on the one hand investigate how task sublexical and intrapersonal factors influence emotional word processing and on the other hand extend emotional word processing to the domains of social context and self related processing Finally future perspectives are outlined including research on emotion and language acquisition culture and multilingualism In summary this textbook offers scientists from different disciplines insight into the neurophysiological behavioral and subjective mechanisms underlying emotion and language interactions It gives new impulses to existing theories on the embodiment of language and emotion and provides new ways of looking at emotion cognition interactions
