Albert Sutton Richey

With The Wind:

Teaching with the Wind Michael Dallaire,2011-08-25 Teaching with the Wind tackles the question Can education for a Canadian civic spirituality bridge the sometimes incommensurable worldviews of faith based schools and secular public schools An affirmative answer is offered based on two foundations First that a national soul can be identified and thus serve as the content of spiritual education in Canada schools Second that a reconstructed approach to the contemplation in action method found in world religions and philosophy can provide an appropriate pedagogy for Canadian spiritual education This book argues that education for civic spirituality is of paramount importance as Canada continues its transition from a Judeo Christian and bicultural nation to a multi faith and multicultural nation within a secular democracy It offers a direction that would enrich religious and secular education systems as well as Canada as a whole

New Approaches to Gone With the Wind James A. Crank,2015-12-14 Since its publication in 1936 Gone with the Wind has held a unique position in American cultural memory both for its particular vision of the American South in the age of the Civil War and for its often controversial portrayals of race gender and class New Approaches to Gone with the Wind offers neither apology nor rehabilitation for the novel and its Oscar winning film adaptation Instead the nine essays provide distinct compelling insights that challenge and complicate conventional associations Racial and sexual identity form a cornerstone of the collection Mark C Jerng and Charlene Register each examine Margaret Mitchell s reframing of traditional racial identities and the impact on audience sympathy and engagement Jessica Sims mines Mitchell s depiction of childbirth for what it reveals about changing ideas of femininity in a postplantation economy while Deborah Barker explores transgressive sexuality in the film version by comparing it to the depiction of rape in D W Griffith s earlier silent classic Birth of a Nation Other essays position the novel and film within the context of their legacy and their impact on national and international audiences Amy Clukey and James Crank inspect the reception of Gone with the Wind by Irish critics and gay communities respectively Daniel Cross Turner Keaghan Turner and Rich Richardson consider its aesthetic impact and mythology and the ways that contemporary writers and artists such as Natasha Trethewey and Kara Walker have engaged with the work Finally Helen Taylor sums up the pervading influence that Gone with the Wind continues to exert on audiences in both America and Britain Through an emphasis on intertextuality sexuality and questions of audience and identity these essayists deepen the ongoing conversation about the cultural impact and influence of this monumental work Flawed in many ways yet successful beyond its time Gone with the Wind remains a touchstone in southern studies
