Defining the Really Great Boss Milton D. Dealy, Andrew R. Thomas, 2004-03-30 What makes a great boss Bosses don't become great because of their title rank degree of authority office size or benefits package Great bosses aren't even necessarily great managers Instead they possess a set of core competencies that set them apart from mere managers The skill set of great bosses entails five qualities they do the right thing for the right reason they never make the same mistake twice they set their personal expectations higher than those of their bosses they go to their bosses with action plans not problems and they follow up If a boss has only one of these characteristics he or she is probably very successful But application of all five defines what it means to be a great boss to be successful in good times and bad through change and adversity and to be recognized as such by the people you work for as well as by the people who work for you TOO MANY BOSSES Jan Freed,2012-07-16 According to Alec McDonald Laura Hayes is impertinent impulsive insubordinate and totally lacking in self discipline all negatives in an employee Mind you she has the legs of a Las Vegas showgirl According to Laura Hayes Alec McDonald is a pompous bigot who considers hankies standard issue for his female employees But while these are negatives in a boss Laura doesn t intend to remain his employee for long Within twenty four hours of their first meeting Laura and Alec are partners Equal partners Yet two bosses is one too many for any business especially when the boss is falling in love with the boss And his six year old son Extension service circulars ,1926 Journal California.
