Temporary Parents:

Children, the Magazine for Parents, 1927 Work, Love, and Learning in Utopia Martin Schoenhals, 2018-12-07
Work Love and Learning in Utopia breathes new life into the age old human preoccupation with how to create a happier society With a fascinating mix of research from cross cultural psychology macro history and evolutionary biology the book gives new credibility to the advocacy of radical equality The author a psychological anthropologist argues that the negative emotions of sadness anger and fear evolved in tandem with hierarchy while happiness evolved separately and in connection to prosociality and compassion The book covers a wide range of human concerns from economics and education to media and communication to gender and sexuality It breaks new boundaries with its scope arguing that equality of love is as important and possible as is economic equality Its argument is provocative yet practical and each chapter ends with concrete proposals that invite dialogue with any student of policy Written in an easily accessible style this book will appeal to anyone who has ever puzzled over how our social world could be remade In particular it will be very useful to students and scholars of anthropology sociology and psychology Parents' Magazine & Better Homemaking, 1927 America's 1 family magazine

General Court of Massachusetts Massachusetts, 1900 Handbook of Parenting Marc H. Bornstein, 2019-03-08 This highly anticipated third edition of the Handbook of Parenting brings together an array of field leading experts who have worked in different ways toward understanding the many diverse aspects of parenting Contributors to the Handbook look to the most recent research and thinking to shed light on topics every parent professional and policymaker wonders about Parenting is a perennially hot topic After all everyone who has ever lived has been parented and the vast majority of people become parents themselves No wonder bookstores house shelves of how to parenting books and magazine racks in pharmacies and airports overflow with periodicals that feature parenting advice. However, almost none of these is evidence based. The Handbook of Parenting is Period. Each chapter has been written to be read and absorbed in a single sitting and includes historical considerations of the topic, a discussion of central issues and theory, a review of classical and modern research, and forecasts of future directions of theory and research. Together, the five volumes in the Handbook cover Children and Parenting, the Biology and Ecology of Parenting, Being and Becoming a Parent, Social Conditions and Applied Parenting, and the Practice of Parenting. Volume 1, Children and Parenting, considers parenthood as a functional status in the life cycle. Parents protect, nurture, and teach their progeny, even if human development is more dynamic than can be determined by parental caregiving alone. Volume 1 of the Handbook of Parenting begins with chapters concerned with how children influence parenting. Notable are their more obvious characteristics like child age or developmental stage, but subtler ones like child gender, physical state, temperament, mental ability, and other individual differences. Factors are also instrumental. The chapters in Part I on Parenting across the Lifespan discuss the unique rewards and special demands of parenting children of different ages and stages: infants, toddlers, youngsters in middle childhood, and adolescents, as well as the modern notion of parent-child relationships in emerging adulthood, adulthood, and old age. The chapters in Part II on Parenting Children of Varying Status discuss common issues associated with parenting children of different genders and temperaments, as well as unique situations of parenting adopted and foster children and children with a variety of special needs, such as those with extreme talent, born preterm, who are socially withdrawn or aggressive, or who fall on the autistic spectrum, manifest intellectual disabilities, or suffer a chronic health condition.

Kinship by Design Ellen Herman, 2009-08-01. What constitutes a family? Tracing the dramatic evolution of Americans' answer to this question over the past century, Kinship by Design provides the fullest account to date of modern adoption's history. Beginning in the early 1900s when children were still transferred between households by a variety of unregulated private arrangements, Ellen Herman details efforts by the U.S. Children's Bureau and the Child Welfare League of America to establish adoption standards in law and practice. She goes on to trace Americans' shifting ideas about matching children with physically or intellectually similar parents, revealing how research in developmental science and technology shaped adoption as it navigated the nature/nurture debate. Concluding with an insightful analysis of the revolution that ushered in special needs, transracial, and international adoptions, Kinship by Design ultimately situates the practice as both a different way to make a family and a universal story about love, loss, identity, and belonging. In doing so, this volume provides a new vantage point from which to view twentieth-century America, revealing as much about social welfare, statecraft, and science as it does about childhood, family, and private life.

Childhood and education in the era of globalization Bogusław Śliwerski, Marzenna Magda-Adamowicz, Mirosława Nowak-Dziemianowicz, Beata Przyborowska, Marzanna Farnicka, Agnieszka Cybal-Michalska, 2025-10-13. The volume is an important contribution to the scholarship on childhood and education in globalised contexts. It is marked by conceptual depth.

theoretical pluralism and a commitment to social justice The authors challenge prevailing assumptions raise critical voices and foreground the child as an epistemic subject living in complex and contested realities The volume shows the child not only as a passive recipient of adult interventions but as a subject constructed by and within dynamic global technological economic cultural and political forces They provide a valuable resource for scholars in the fields of educational theory childhood studies and globalization studies
