Teaching Adult English Language Learners Betsy Parrish, 2019 Teaching Adult Second Language Learners Heather MacKay, 1999 Teaching Adult Language Learners: Enhancing Personal Methodologies Ervin Kovačević, Kovačević, 2021-08-05 The book is originally intended for postgraduate students of applied linguistics and foreign language teachers who may have some unresolved dilemmas about foreign language education for adults It opens with a chapter about seven dominant perspectives on the learning process The book moves across the notions of adulthood adult learner adult education and principles of foreign the prefix second is interchangeably used language teaching methodology The final chapter is designed to help you reflect on your own inclinations towards embracing or rejecting novelties in teaching design Overall the first four chapters may appeal to a broad audience but the final three chapters may require a level of relevant experience and supplementary reading about issues in education and foreign language methodology This book can be read from cover to cover but it is not necessary to do so I encourage you to skip to chapters that you find relevant Every chapter has a few sections which I labeled Personal Notes where I tried to spare you the academic style and provide some opportunities for reflections by means of my personal experiences dilemmas observations and anecdotes The chapters also have Highlights which tend to sum up or emphasize key elements in the textbook s segments for which I assumed it would be necessary Every chapter ends with a few Questions for Reflections and Discussions which are meant to motivate you to reexamine your understanding of the reviewed and proposed ideas Teaching Adult English Language Learners Richard A.
