Teaching Spirits Joseph Epes Brown,2001-07-19 Teaching Spirits offers a thematic approach to Native American religious traditions Through years of living with and learning about Native traditions across the continent Joseph Epes Brown learned firsthand of the great diversity of the North American Indian cultures Yet within this great multiplicity he also noticed certain common themes that resonate within many Native traditions These themes include a shared sense of time as cyclical rather than linear a belief that landscapes are inhabited by spirits a rich oral tradition visual arts that emphasize the process of creation a reciprocal relationship with the natural world and the rituals that tie these themes together Brown illustrates each of these themes with in depth explorations of specific native cultures including Lakota Navajo Apache Koyukon and Ojibwe Brown was one of the first scholars to recognize that Native religions rather than being relics of the past are vital traditions that tribal members shape and adapt to meet both timeless and contemporary needs Teaching Spirits reflects this view using examples from the present as well as the past For instance when writing about Plains rituals he describes not only building an impromptu sweat lodge in a Denver hotel room with Black Elk in the 1940s but also the struggles of present day Crow tribal members to balance Sun Dances and vision quests with nine to five jobs In this groundbreaking work Brown suggests that Native American traditions demonstrate how all components of a culture can be interconnected how the presence of the sacred can permeate all lifeways to such a degree that what we call religion is integrated into all of life s activities Throughout the book Brown draws on his extensive personal experience with Black Elk who came to symbolize for many the richness of the imperiled native cultures This volume brings to life the themes that resonate at the heart of Native American religious traditions Teaching American Indian History Terry P. Wilson,1993 Teaching and Learning with Native Americans Miriam Kroeger,Adult Literacy and Technology Resource Center, Inc,1996 Native American Studies in Higher Education Duane Champagne,2002 In this collection Champagne and Stauss demonstrate how the rise of Native studies in American and Canadian universities exists as an extraordinary achievement in higher education In the face of historically assimilationist agendas institutional racism and structural opposition by Western educational institutions collaborative programs continue to grow and promote the values and goals of sovereign tribal communities The contributors show how many departments grew significantly following the landmark 1969 Senate report Indian Education A National Tragedy A National Challenge They evaluate the university efforts to offer Native students intellectual and technical skills and the long battle to represent Native cultures and world views in the university curriculum In twelve case studies Indian and non Indian teachers provide rich contextual histories of their programs through three decades of growth They frankly discuss successes and failures as innovative strategies and models are tested Programs from University of California Davis Harvard Saskatchewan Arizona and others provide detailed analyses of academic battles over curriculum content the marginalization of indigenous faculty and students the pedagogical implications of integrating native instructors the vagaries of administrative support and funding Native student retention the vulnerability of native language programs and community collaborations A vision of Indian education that emerges from these pages that reveals the university s potential as a vehicle for Indian nation building one in which the university curriculum also benefits from sustained contacts with tribal communities As Native populations grow and the demand for university training increases this book will be a valuable resource for Native American leaders educators in Native American studies race and ethnic studies comparative education minorities in education anthropology sociology higher education administration and educational policy
