This is an extensively revised and substantially enlarged 2000 edition of the acclaimed Using French Cassell's Dictionary of French Synonyms Arranged in Groups for the Convenience of English Students P. O.

Crowhurst, 2011-03-23 French is without doubt the foreign language most frequently studied in English speaking countries today a fact which may be accounted for in several ways First the history of France has in past centuries been closely interwoven with that of England revealing here the spirit of unity linking the two nations there the misunderstanding or hostility which divided them As a result the French tongue found its way into England from the Norman invasion onward remained in use at the Court until the fourteenth century shared with Latin the distinction of being the literary language of Europe and became the diplomatic and social speech of the world Secondly the geographical situation of France as regards England and the close relationships with the French since the Revolution in America have facilitated the study of the language but a third and more potent reason for its present day popularity was the advent of the Great War in 1914 that gigantic upheaval which threw the nations into physical touch with each other and permitted us to study at close range the character and language of our French allies during that unprecedented struggle It may be said therefore that the French language has come to stay but we must remember that it is infinitely rich in nuance and finesse or as we should say shades of meaning so much so that the possibilities of expressing oneself exactly or making mistakes are alike unbounded As an example the words pendant and durant are generally given as French equivalents for during while affrayant effrayant effrayable and effrayant Slang and Its Analogues John Stephen Farmer, 1891 Slang and Its Analogues Past and Present William Ernest Henley, 1891 Slang and Its Analogues Past and Present John Stephen Farmer, 1891 The American Peony Society Bulletin American Peony Society, 1915 A Bulletin of Peony News, 1919 French synonyms; or, Practical exercises on synonymy [sic.] Charles Turrell (of the roy. naval sch.), 1836 Bulletin of Peony News American Peony Society, 1920 Includes reports of the society's meetings French Studies, 1993 French Words M.
