Innovation Through Technical and Scientific Information, 1989-02-22 This volume examines the role of scientific and technical information in the innovation process The authors are primarily concerned with federally supported scientific and technical information which can be used to improve technology development for nondefense purposes and thus help improve the international economic competitiveness of the United States As the authors note at the outset the federal government already makes a substantial investment in creating scientific and technical information Their study is designed to first evaluate the ways in which this investment can be better used to improve our innovation capacity and then to assess the policy implications for the federal government and private sector R D firms Divided into three principal parts the book begins by discussing the relationship between information and innovation with particular emphasis on the use of information in the private sector Part II characterizes existing federal policy related to information technology transfer and innovation and examines whether federally supported R D is responsive to the needs of technological development and economic competitiveness The final section addresses federal strategies to improve the use of federal R D in these areas Throughout the authors pay special attention to issues surrounding the relationships between information providers and users An important contribution to the ongoing debate on U S competitiveness abroad this book offers important new insights into the ways in which government policy might be redesigned to help foster higher levels of technological innovation among U S firms

The Cold War U.S. Army Ingo Tauschweizer, 2008 Focuses on the Seventh Army in West Germany the largest and best prepared field army ever deployed by the U S in peacetime to show how the U S army redefined its identity structure and mission in order to avoid obsolescence during the Cold War era of nuclear weapons subject Communications Public Relations Advertising Marketing Social Media grade 1 5 University of Applied Sciences Fulda language English abstract The master s thesis aims to analyze photovoltaic PV solar systems market in Turkey and suggests possible marketing strategies for installer companies in the context of marketing purposes In this frame the secondary research in macro and microenvironment reflects the market conditions with an indicative primary research Therefore seventy active PV solar energy companies were found and analyzed through a scanning in the Internet In addition twenty installer firms reflected their company characteristics and respective evaluations about the market and their marketing strategies through a web basedsurvey Different approaches to PV solar energy marketing are reviewed such as customer centered marketing strategy green marketing and diffusion of innovations model In the light of this information the major observed barriers against deployment of PV solar energy are latecomer regulations weak governmental support and high level of local interest rates in terms of macroenvironment Moreover lack of customer centered professional marketing strategies by firms was discovered against diffusion of PV technology in Turkey Moreover the average rate of installed PV systems to potential market size is forecast under 0 01% among respondent marketers Further the average of marketing employees is 2 7 and average marketing budget is about USD 124 000 To summarize more specific marketing strategies by power demand of customers and by profiles innovators and early adaptors of diffusion of innovations model are strategies Others on organization communication and education discuss preconditions of innovation which of course are also of a strategic character The work focuses more on general principles and philosophical considerations than on techniques The increase in interdisciplinary relations with other fields of research has been a determining factor in specific methods receding into the background The volume presents papers in the academic scientific and research fields as well as contributions related to practical implementation within the field of innovation management Discussion results and fields of future research are summarized The work will be of interest to experts and managers in the field of management technology and innovation practice as well as scientists and students involved in the field of innovation research
