Review of the Soviet Space Program with Comparative United States Data Charles S. Sheldon, 1968 Race Into Space Brian Harvey, 1988 The Wrong Stuff John Strausbaugh, 2024-06-04 A witty deeply researched history of the surprisingly ramshackle Soviet space program and how its success was more spin than science In the wake of World War II with America ascendant and the Soviet Union devastated by the conflict the Space Race should have been over before it started But the underdog Soviets scored a series of victories starting with the 1957 launch of Sputnik and continuing in the years following that seemed to achieve the impossible It was proof it seemed that the USSR had manpower and collective will that went beyond America's material advantages They had asserted themselves as a world power But in The Wrong Stuff John Strausbaugh tells a different story These achievements were amazing yes but they were also PR victories as much as scientific ones The world saw a Potemkin spaceport the internal facts were much sloppier less impressive more dysfunctional The Soviet supply chain was a disaster and many of its machines barely worked The cosmonauts aboard its iconic launch of the Vostok 1 rocket had to go on a special diet and take off their space suits just to fit inside without causing a failure Soviet scientists under intense government pressure had essentially made their rocket out of spit and band aids and hurried to hide their work as soon as their worldwide demonstration was complete With a witty eye for detail and a gift for storytelling John Strausbaugh takes us behind the Iron Curtain and shows just how little there was to find there The Soviet Space Programme Ronald D. Humble, 2024-04-12 The Soviet Space Programme 1988 presents a comprehensive overview of the Soviet space programme from its beginnings up to the end of the 1980s One important theme explored is the degree to which the Soviet space programme was oriented towards military capabilities The book concludes that the degree of military involvement was indeed high The Politics Of Space Matthew J. Soviet Space Programs: Space science, space applications, military space programs, administration, resource burden, and master log of spaceflights ,1988 Race Into Space B. Harvey,1988-06 This work describes how imaginative innovators and theoreticians in the late 19th century provided the foundations of the Soviet space effort Their vision of building space stations in orbit round the earth by linking different components together proved a lasting influence From diverse sources the author has gathered items of relevance which when pieced together have produced an exciting account of the sequence of events After their catastrophic defeat in the race to the moon the USSR slowly reshaped its programme and turned to the building of space stations Automatic probes collected moon samples drilled the rocks of Venus and flew up to Halley s Comet By 1988 the Soviet Union had established a permanent orbital space station Mir and a new generation of rockets enabled the USSR to move into a position of technological supremacy for the 1990s

The Rebirth of the Russian Space Program Brian Harvey,2007-11-25 The rebirth of the Russian space program marks an important event 50 years since the first Sputnik was launched on 4th October 1957 At that time few could have imagined the dramatic events that lay ahead The Soviet Union achieved all the great firsts in cosmonautics the first satellite in orbit the first animal in orbit the first laboratory in orbit the first probe to the Moon the first probe to photograph its far side the first soft landing on the moon the first man in space the first woman in space the first spacewalk Except one the first human landing on the Moon In 1964 the Soviet Union decided to contest the decision of the United States to put the first person on the Moon The Soviet Union engaged in that race far too late with divided organization and made a gallant but doomed challenge to Apollo Undaunted the Soviet Union rebuilt its space program around orbiting stations building the first one Salyut and then the first permanent home in space Mir The Soviet Union still achieved many more firsts the first lunar rover the first soft landing on Venus the first soft landing on Mars the first recovery of samples from the Moon by automatic spacecraft

Soviets in Space Colin Turbett,2022-01-12 The victory over Nazi Germany in 1945 in which the Soviet Union played both the greatest part and suffered the greatest losses found the country in a state of devastation Military strength could not compensate for the damage wreaked by war especially in the western areas of the USSR Within just over ten years not only was Stalin dead and the relative freedoms of the Khrushchev Thaw in progress but the Soviet Union was ahead in the Space Race beating the enormous wealth and resources of the USA launching Soviet citizens from ordinary backgrounds quite literally into worlds beyond our own The communist dream seemed alive and well The story of those years has rarely been told from a Soviet perspective Cold War journalism and historical accounts written in the West tend to portray the space race in terms of ideological competition with success and failure mirroring power and influence in a world divided between capitalism and communism Whilst the military on both sides certainly benefited from the cutting edge technological advance of the space programmes for the people of the USSR the prestige of their successes offered proof that real existing socialism was moving mankind onto new levels of peaceful progress Agriculture and railway building initiatives tried to involved ordinary people in other pioneering projects to build socialism before the dream shattered in the 1980s Extensively illustrated with images from the time this book looks at the years of Soviet space success their background the personalities involved and their impact on the ordinary people of the USSR

U.S.-Soviet Cooperation in Space Dodd L. Harvey,Linda C. Ciccoritti,1974

America's Space Sentinels Jeffrey Richelson,1999 During much of the Cold War America s first line of defense was in outer space a network of secret satellites that could provide instant warning of an enemy missile launch The presence of these infrared sensors orbiting 22 000 miles above the earth discouraged a Soviet first strike and stabilized international relations between the superpowers and they now play a crucial role in monitoring the missile programs of China India and other emerging nuclear powers Jeffrey Richelson has written the first comprehensive history of this vital program tracing its evolution from the late 1950s to the present He puts Defense Support Program operations in the context of world events from Russian missile programs to the Gulf War and explains how DSP s infrared sensors are used to detect meteorites monitor forest fires and even gather industrial intelligence by seeing the lights of steel mills
