The Post Human Condition:

The Posthuman Rosi Braidotti, 2013-07-11 The Posthuman offers both an introduction and major contribution to contemporary debates on the posthuman Digital second life genetically modified food advanced prosthetics robotics and reproductive technologies are familiar facets of our globally linked and technologically mediated societies This has blurred the traditional distinction between the human and its others exposing the non naturalistic structure of the human The Posthuman starts by exploring the extent to which a post humanist move displaces the traditional humanistic unity of the subject Rather than perceiving this situation as a loss of cognitive and moral self mastery Braidotti argues that the posthuman helps us make sense of our flexible and multiple identities Braidotti then analyzes the escalating effects of post anthropocentric thought which encompass not only other species but also the sustainability of our planet as a whole Because contemporary market economies profit from the control and commodification of all that lives they result in hybridization erasing categorical distinctions between the human and other species seeds plants animals and bacteria These dislocations induced by globalized cultures and economies enable a critique of anthropocentrism but how reliable are they as indicators of a sustainable future The Posthuman concludes by considering the implications of these shifts for the institutional practice of the humanities Braidotti outlines new forms of cosmopolitan neo humanism that emerge from the spectrum of post colonial and race studies as well as gender analysis and environmentalism The challenge of the posthuman condition consists in seizing the opportunities for new social bonding and community building while pursuing sustainability and empowerment

The Posthuman Condition Julian Pepperell, Robert Pepperell, 2009 Where humanists saw themselves as distinct beings in an antagonistic relationship with their surroundings posthumans regard their own being as embodied in an extended technological world Synthetic creativity organic computers genetic modification intelligent machines such ideas are deeply challenging to many of our traditional assumptions about human uniqueness and superiority But ironically it is our very capacity for technological invention that has secured us so dominant a position in the world which may lead ultimately to as some have put it The End of Man If we are really capable of creating entities that exceed our own skills and intellect then the consequences for humanity are almost inconceivable Nevertheless we must now face up to the possibility that attributes like intelligence and consciousness may be synthesised in non human entities perhaps within our lifetime Would such entities have human like emotions would they have a sense of their own being The Posthuman Condition argues that such questions are difficult to tackle given the concepts of human existence that we have inherited from humanism many of which can no longer be sustained New theories about nature and the operation of the universe arising from sophisticated computer modelling are starting to demonstrate the profound interconnections between all things in reality where previously we had seen only separations This has implications for traditional views of the human condition consciousness the way we look at art and for some of the oldest problems in philosophy First published in the 1990s this important text has been completely revised by the author with the addition of new sections and illustrations For further information see www post human net

The Posthuman Condition Kasper Lippert-Rasmussen, Mads Rosendahl Thomsen, Jacob Wamberg, 2012-05-10 If biotechnology can be used to upgrade humans physically and mentally should it be used at all And if so to what extent How will biotechnology affect societal cohesion Can the development be controlled or is this a Pandora's box that should remain closed These are but a few of the perplex questions facing scientists as a result of the increasing ability of technology to change biology and in turn profoundly change human living conditions This development has created a new posthuman horizon that will influence contemporary life and politics in a number of ways The Posthuman Condition addresses the challenges of Imagining a society where the properties of humans have shifted radically Assessing the scope of deploying technologies that are already underway Basing decisions on an ethical foundation that does not entail a concept of human nature Ascertaining the types of political action that can and should be taken in the face of this situation The anthology brings together researchers from a wide range of disciplines biotechnology medicine ethics politics and aesthetics and among contributors are Francis Fukuyama Julian Savulescu Maxwell Mehlman John Harris and Chris Hables Gray The

Posthuman Condition in 21st Century Literature and Culture María Ferrández-Sanmiguel, Esther Muñoz-González, Carmen Laguarda-Bueno, 2025-06-18 More than a decade after its first definitions critical posthumanism has become consolidated as a key discourse for the understanding of our contemporary state of being within what has been called the paradigm of posthumanity but also crucially as an ideology and a praxis that guides our engagements with the world around us This double dimension characterizes the contributions to this volume They resort to critical posthumanism in its most recent developments as a set of tools for critical and cultural analysis of our posthuman times as posthumanist concerns manifest in our cultural products This volume studies the most recent evolutions in the field of critical posthumanism as represented in key novels and other screened popular cultural products produced in the first and second decades of the twenty first century Resorting to the analytical tools provided by critical posthumanist theory in cross disciplinary dialogue with other fields such as transhumanism feminist gender and queer theory vulnerability studies new materialism critical animal studies and environmental theory the scholars whose work this volume showcases bear witness to how literature and popular culture have been influenced and impressed by posthumanism Chapters 1 5 7 8 and 12 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via Springerlink The Post-human Condition Robert Pepperell, 1995 This work challenges many of the humanist assumptions of Western philosophy science and art It proposes a view of the human condition building on the findings of quantum theory chaos theory catastrophe theory cybernetics cyberpunk and New Ageism taking into account current scientific and technological developments Sex and the Posthuman Condition M. Hauskeller, 2014-08-20 This book looks at how sexuality is framed in enhancement scenarios and how descriptions of the resulting posthuman future are informed by mythological historical and literary paradigms It examines the glorious sex life we will allegedly enjoy due to greater control of our emotions improved capacity for pleasure and availability of sex robots Transhumanism - Engineering the Human Condition Roberto Manzocco,2019-03-11 This book is designed to offer a comprehensive high level introduction to transhumanism an international political and cultural movement that aims to produce a paradigm shift in our ethical and political understanding of human evolution Transhumanist thinkers want the human species to take the course of evolution into its own hands using advanced technologies currently under development such as robotics artificial intelligence biotechnology cognitive neurosciences and nanotechnology to overcome our present physical and mental limitations improve our intelligence beyond the current maximum achievable level acquire skills that are currently the preserve of other species abolish involuntary aging and death and ultimately achieve a post human level of existence The book covers transhumanism from a historical philosophical and scientific viewpoint tracing its cultural roots discussing the main philosophical epistemological and ethical issues and reviewing the state of the art in scientific research on the topics of most interest to transhumanists The writing style is clear and accessible for the general reader but the book will also appeal to graduate and undergraduate students Ecological Interconnections Shruti Das,Mridul Bordoloi,2024-12-04 This book argues that literature and cultural studies are crucial for understanding ecological issues promoting sustainability and fostering interspecies communication It further advocates for a practical shift from theory to action emphasizing the interconnectedness of human and non human life forms

Representations of the Post/human Elaine L. Graham,2002 This work draws together a wide range of literature on contemporary technologies and their ethical implications It focuses on advances in medical reproductive genetic and information technologies The Superfluity of the Human Žarko Paić,2023-09-11 The author claims that concerning the progress and development of the technoscientific mind in the application of artificial intelligence the anthropological definition of man has become not only outdated and ineffective but man has become superfluous for the logic of the digital age He develops his argumentative assumptions critically confronting numerous approaches to this problem from Heidegger Severino G Anders Deleuze Simondon and Wiener By showing how the prospects of future philosophy presuppose technological singularity and extropy the link between posthumanism and transhumanism the author raises the question of the possibility of thinking differently from metaphysics within the labyrinth of language Transhumanism: The Proper Guide to a Posthuman Condition or a Dangerous Idea? Wolfgang Hofkirchner,Hans-Jörg Kreowski,2020-12-12 This book examines the contributions of the transhumanism approach to technology in particular the contributed chapters are wary of the implications of this popular idea The volume is organized into four parts concerning philosophical military technological and sociological aspects of transhumanism but the reader is free to choose various reading patterns Topics discussed include gene editing the singularity ethical machines metaphors in AI mind uploading and the philosophy of art and some perspectives taken or discussed examine transhumanism within the context of the philosophy of technology transhumanism as a derailed anthropology and critical sociological aspects that consider transhumanism in the context of topical concerns such as whiteness maleness and masculinity The book will be of value to researchers engaged with artificial intelligence and the ethical societal and philosophical impacts of science and technology

Life in the Posthuman Condition Professor Emeritus of Drama S E Wilmer, Chief Researcher Audrone Zukauskaitė, 2024-11-30 This edited volume reconsiders the notion of life and conceptualizes those forms of life which have been excluded from modern philosophy such as post Anthropocene life the life of non human animals and the life of inorganic objects The contributors who include prominent contemporary philosophers and theorists ask a wide range of questions including what new forms of subjectivity can we see with the return of the Anthropos what can animals teach us in the Anthropocene can we reconstruct the perceptual world of animals and take a look into their subjectivity what happens to inorganic matter waste or digital objects when no longer used by any subject and can we think about inorganic matter in terms of subjective self awareness The first section Life Beyond the Anthropocene critically questions Anthropocene theory and outlines alternative scenarios such as Gaia theory or post Anthropocene forms of life on Earth and other planets as well as new forms of subjectivity The second part Human and Non Human Interactions investigates the obscure boundary between life and non life and between human and non human animal life forms The third part Forms of Life and New Ontologies concentrates on new ontologies and discusses life in terms of vitalism new materialism movement form taking activity and plasticity

have shared one thing it was their common engagement with constructions and representations of the human Under the pressure of new contemporary concerns however we are experiencing a posthuman condition the combination of new developments such as the neoliberal economics of global capitalism migration technological advances environmental destruction on a mass scale the perpetual war on terror and extensive security systems with a troublesome reiteration of old unresolved problems that mean the concept of the human as we had previously known it has undergone dramatic transformations The Posthuman Glossary is a volume providing an outline of the critical terms of posthumanity in present day artistic and intellectual work It builds on the broad thematic topics of Anthropocene Capitalocene eco sophies digital activism algorithmic cultures and security and the inhuman It outlines potential artistic intellectual and activist itineraries of working through the complex reality of the posthuman condition and creates an understanding of the altered meanings of art vis vis critical present day developments It bridges missing links across disciplines terminologies constituencies and critical communities This original work will unlock the terms of the posthuman for students and researchers alike Posthumanism, Singularity, and the Anthropocene Jason Cham Sum Leung, 2019 When speaking of the future of the human our attention is often on human beings themselves as a species and their capability to survive in the face of the changes of the world Our understanding of the human body space and even our connection with technoscience are vastly transformed by the changes brought by the close and interconnected relationship of human and technology in the contemporary world From Donna J Haraway s cyborg to N Katherine Hayles and Cary Wolfe s discussions on posthumanism it is undeniable that we have already entered the age of the posthuman Science fiction as a form of creative writing explores various possible futures of the human species augmented by the advent of technology while posthumanism looks into how the human should respond in view of the changing connection between human and technology human and animals human and the earth and human and nonhuman Science fiction with a posthuman theme is a unique genre that deals with the human condition in the world of science and technology and its relation to the nonhuman world This dissertation examines posthumanism the singularity and the Anthropocene in science fiction from a thematic perspective Chapter One reviews the history of cyborg and posthuman theories and the connection between posthumanism and science fiction to illustrate how posthuman discourses and science fiction works develop together Chapter Two examines the representations of the posthuman body in science fiction along the development of posthuman discourses Discussions on Mary Shelley s Frankenstein Bicentennial Man 1999 A I Artificial Intelligence 2001 Blade Runner 1982 Blade Runner 2049 2017 William Gibson s Neuromancer eXistenZ 1999 and Robert J Sawyer s WWW Trilogy Wake Watch and Wonder demonstrate four main types of imaginations to illustrate different visions of the posthuman in science fiction 1 the technologically made monster 2 artificial intelligence in an organic body 3 plugging one s body into the digital realm and 4 embodiment of the nonhuman Chapter Three argues for an alternative perspective other than the insistent privileging of the human in posthuman science fiction From humanistic values and anthropocentric biases to the WWW Trilogy's embrace of the singularity there is a paradigm shift from humanism to the concern of the nonhuman. The chapter examines Vernor Vinge and Ray Kurzweil's visions of the Singularity with reference to the WWW Trilogy and other singularity science fiction works which portray possible worlds of symbiosis, coexistence, and coevolution. Last but not least, Chapter Four focuses on the Anthropocene and science fiction to illustrate the coevolution of human and nonhuman in relation to the environment and climate change, with discussions on Paul Di Filippo's short story Life in the Anthropocene and Kim Stanley Robinson's science fictions New York 2140 and 2312. By examining the development of posthuman discourses, concepts of the singularity, and the Anthropocene along the creative narratives of posthuman science fiction, this dissertation aims to affirm science fiction's role in exploring the posthuman condition and reimagining our future. It also puts science and humanities together in developing new perspectives and ethics for the world we are in.

Posthuman Ecologies Rosi Braidotti, Simone Bignall, 2018-12-17. The devolved and dispersed character of human agency and moral responsibility in the contemporary condition appears linked with the deepening global trauma of inhumanism as a paradox of the Anthropocene. Reclaiming human agency and accountability appears crucial for collective resistance to the unprecedented state of environmental and social collapse resulting from the inhumanity of contemporary capitalist geopolitics and biotechnologies of control. Understanding the potential for such resistance in the posthuman condition requires urgent new thinking about the nature of human influence in complex interactional systems and about the nature of such systems when conceived in a non-anthropocentric way. Through specific readings and uses of Deleuze's conceptual apparatus, this volume examines the operation of human actioned systems as complex and heterogeneous arenas of affection and accountability. This exciting collection extends non-humanist concepts for understanding reality, agency, and interaction in dynamic ecologies of reciprocal determination and influence. The outcome is a vital new theorisation of human scope, responsibility, and potential in the posthuman condition.

Wojciech Kalaga, 2005 Faust and the Posthuman Condition John T. Grimaldi, 2010 Cosmodolphins Mette Bryld, Nina Lykke, 2000-01-02. Applying thinking on gender and the environment to research on science and technology, this is an analysis of contemporary categorizations of human self versus wild other through three 20th-century icons: spaceships, horoscopes, and dolphins.
