

A black and white micrograph showing several plant cells. The cells are roughly rectangular and arranged in a grid-like pattern. Each cell has a thick, dark border representing the cell wall. Inside the cells, there are various internal structures, including a large, clear central vacuole and smaller, darker granules. The overall appearance is that of a cross-section of plant tissue, possibly an onion skin or similar. The lighting is somewhat uneven, with a bright spot in the lower-left quadrant.
