Wildlife Contraception Cheryl S. Asa, Ingrid Porton, 2005-02 The first major book in more than a decade to discuss the critical issue of wildlife contraception in the wild and the first ever to take up contraception for wild animals in captivity this collection of essays by leading experts covers both theory and practice

Wildlife Contraception Cheryl S. Asa, Ingrid J. Porton, 2005-09-29 This collection of essays is the first major work in more than a decade to discuss the critical issue of wildlife contraception and the first ever to take up contraception both theory and practice for wild animals in captivity The authors leading international experts on the subject analyze the use of wildlife contraception for various animal populations including nonhuman primates ungulates pinnipeds cetaceans and other mammals The chapters examine and critique types of contraception and their effects and explore the best method for each situation Using the most recent data and findings this comprehensive collection addresses problems related to unrestricted population growth the ethics of wildlife contraception and regulatory issues for wildlife managers animal rights organizations zoos worldwide and anyone interested in the humane control of animal populations

Animal Breeding, Welfare and Society Jacky Turner, 2010-08-12 The determination of when how often and with whom an animal breeds is moving rapidly away from evolutionary pressures and towards human purposes these include the breeding of around 50 billion mammals and birds for food production annually the breeding of pedigree dogs and cats racing dogs and horses specialised laboratory animal strains and the use of reproductive science to conserve endangered species or breeds and to limit unwanted populations of pests and non native species But the ethics and sustainability of this takeover of animals reproductive lives have been insufficiently examined by either professionals or the public This book discusses the methods the motivations and the consequences of human intervention in animal breeding in terms of animal health behaviour and well being It explores where we are now and the choices ahead and looks to a future where we have more respect for animals as sentient beings and where we could loosen the reins of reproductive control
