McGovern, 1899 The Means to Kill Gerrit Dworok, Frank Jacob, 2015-11-12 Throughout human history technological innovation has functioned as a driver of civilization and inspired many people's belief in progress. When it comes to warfare where technology is applied with a cruel and deadly logic a nuanced view is needed. From siege engines to drones innovation has often served a less enlightened aim: elimination of the enemy. This collection of new essays from specialists in military history examines the interdependence between war and technology from a number of regional perspectives. The World's History and Its Makers: Famous women, 1902 Thrust, 1987 The War of Wars Robert Harvey, 2009-06-01 Robert Harvey brilliantly recreates the story of the greatest conflict that stretches from the first blaze of revolution in Paris in 1789 to final victory on the muddy fields of Waterloo. On land and at sea throughout the four corners of the continent from the frozen plains surrounding Moscow and terror on the Caribbean seas to the muddy low lands of Flanders and the becalmed waters of Trafalgar. The War of Wars tells the powerful story of the greatest conflict of the age. Six Thousand Years of History: Famous women Edgar Sanderson, John Porter Lamberton, Charles Morris, 1910 Kirkus Reviews, 1986 Adult books are categorized by genre: fiction, mystery, science fiction, nonfiction. Along with bibliographic information the expected date of publication and the names of literary agents for individual titles are provided. Starred reviews serve several functions. In the adult section they mark potential bestsellers, major promotions, book club selections, and just very good books. In the children's section they denote books of very high quality. The unsigned reviews manage to be discerning and sometimes quite critical. Famous women Edgar Sanderson, John Porter Lamberton, 1900 *The Historical Romances of Louisa Mühlbach Pseud: Joseph II and his court; tr. by A. As early as classical antiquity scholars were summoned to court to counsel kings. Public policy and program evaluation is a recent addition to the great chain of attempts to use the brainpower of scholars and scientists to further the interests of the state. Evaluation scholars are asked to provide retrospective assessments of the implementation, output, and outcome of government measures in order to effect deeper understanding and well-grounded decisions on the part of those in charge of government operations. Evaluation is the process of distinguishing the worthwhile from the worthless, the precious from the useless. Evaluation implies looking backward in order to be able to steer forward better. Written from a political science perspective Public Policy and Program Evaluation provides an overview of the possibilities and limits of public sector evaluation. Evert Vedung examines evaluation as a mechanism for monitoring, systematizing, and grading government activities and their results so that public officials in their future-oriented work will be able to act as responsibly, creatively, and efficiently as possible. Topics discussed include Evaluation, Rationality, and Theories of Public Management Models of
