Disrupting the Digital Humanities Dorothy Kim, Jesse Stommel, 2018 All too often defining a discipline becomes more an exercise of exclusion than inclusion Disrupting the Digital Humanities seeks to rethink how we map disciplinary terrain by directly confronting the gatekeeping impulse of many other so called field defining collections What is most beautiful about the work of the Digital Humanities is exactly the fact that it can't be tidily anthologized In fact the desire to neatly define the Digital Humanities to filter the DH y from the DH is a way of excluding the radically diverse work that actually constitutes the field This collection then works to push and prod at the edges of the Digital Humanities to open the Digital Humanities rather than close it down Ultimately it's exactly the fringes the outliers that make the Digital Humanities both lovely and rigorous This collection does not constitute yet another reservoir for the new Digital Humanities canon Rather our aim is less about assembling content as it is about creating new conversations Building a truly communal space for the digital humanities requires that we all approach that space with a commitment to 1 creating open and non hierarchical dialogues 2 championing non traditional work that might not otherwise be recognized through conventional scholarly channels 3 amplifying marginalized voices 4 advocating for students and learners and 5 sharing generously to support the work of our peers
