Asian Ergonomics Society Conference (ASEAN Ergonomics 2000) K.Y. Lim,2000-11-16 In the next millennium it is anticipated that human factors issues will take centre stage in initiatives targeted at enhancing economic competitiveness and productivity This development is already discernible in nascent knowledge and digital based industries and economies which are expected to emerge in force in the near future and continue to dominate thereafter These developments will establish irreversibly the emerging global economy The theme of the APCHI 2000 conference is Towards a seamless integration of collaborative human computer systems to reflect the already discernible shift in focus of human computer interaction HCI whilst the theme of the ASEAN Ergonomics 2000 conference is From user centeredness to people centeredness to reflect the imminent shift in focus that is required of human factors The papers in these proceedings provide a good contrast of human factors contributions to both old and new economies that make up ASEAN and APEC They highlight the diverse roles human factors can play in advancing the quality of life in developed developing and third world nations They also serve as a guide to human factors practitioners in old economies on what to expect as their economies develop The Future of Remote Teams Andrew Filev,2012 As many as 65 percent of workers predict their offices will go fully virtual within the next few years according to a survey run by Wrike Inc Thanks to the rapid development of web technologies it has become quite typical for many project teams to work as a human cloud Wrike s survey observed how people s current scope of virtual collaboration compares with their work styles two to three years ago where remote work remains among the fringe benefits and much more This paper highlights the findings of the survey and shows how workers see the future of virtual offices in the next five years It also identifies what things affect this trend the most The paper analyzes the main productivity hindrances that virtual teams face and discusses ways of making remote project collaboration smooth and efficient without regular face to face meetings It offers suggestions to fine tune collaboration across distances Virtual University? Henk van der Molen,2001 Higher education institutions around the world are experimenting with many different types of virtual learning environments This book argues that information and communication technologies will have a major impact on teaching and learning and universities should have a strategy to meet this change It posits that institutions and individuals will not be able to individually obtain the best advantages from these new technologies that there is need for specialization and cooperation Experiences with Internet learning indicate that students as well as teachers have to accept patterns quite different from the traditional teaching learning pattern Traditional university staff may resist these changes but institutions which do not adjust to the new opportunities are likely to shrink or even disappear
