Vers la féminisation? Alain Soral, 1999 The Gendered 'I' in Ancient Literature Lisa Cordes, Therese Fuhrer, 2022-10-24 Considering the ubiquity of rhetorical training in antiquity the volume starts from the premise that every first person statement in ancient literature is in some way rhetorically modelled and aesthetically shaped Focusing on different types of Greek and Latin literature poetry and prose from the Archaic Age to Late Antiquity the contributions analyse the use and modelling of gender specific elements in different types of first person speech be it that the speaker is represented as the author of a work be it that they feature as characters in the work narrating their own story or that of others In doing so they do not only offer new insights into the rhetorical strategies and literary techniques used to construct a gendered I in ancient literature They also address the form and function of first person discourse in classical literature in general touching on fields of research that have increasingly come into focus in recent years such as authorship studies studies concerning the ancient notions of the literary persona as well as a historical narratology that discusses concepts such as the narrator or the literary character in ancient literary theory and practice Sociolinguistic Variation in Seventeenth-Century France Wendy Ayres-Bennett, 2004-10-14 This book provides a systematic study of sociolinguistic variation in seventeenth century France Drawing on a range of case studies Wendy Ayres Bennett makes available data about linguistic variation in this period showing the wealth and variety of language usage at a time that is considered to be the most standardising in the history of French Variation is analysed in terms of the speaker's pre verbal constitution such as gender age and socio economic status or by the medium register or genre used As well as examining linguistic variation itself the book also considers the fundamental methodological issues that are central to all socio historical linguistic accounts and more importantly addresses the question of what the appropriate sources are for linguists taking a socio historical approach In each chapter the case studies present a range of phonological morphological syntactic and lexical issues which pose different methodological questions for sociolinguists and historical linguists alike Célébrons Nos Réussites Féministes Karen Blackford, Marie-Luce Garceau, Sandra Kirby, 1999 Abuses by international corporations withdrawal of social services and implementation of regressive legislation continue to impoverish women and reduce the quality of their everyday lives women have reason to be demoralized Recognizing this challenging and difficult situation this volume reviews women's successes at feminizing Canadian institutions It is intended to hearten the women's movement and show the potential for feminist change and suggest ways to realize this potential Bilingual edition Proceedings of the XI International Congress of Egyptologists, Florence, Italy 23-30 August 2015 Gloria Rosati, M.
