We Wanted To Live:

Where We Want to Live Ryan Gravel, 2016-03-15 Winner Phillip D Reed Award for Outstanding Writing on the Southern Environment A Planetizen Top Planning Book for 2017 After decades of sprawl many American city and suburban residents struggle with issues related to traffic and its accompanying challenges for our health and productivity divided neighborhoods and a non walkable life Urban designer Ryan Gravel makes a case for how we can change this Cities have the capacity to create a healthier more satisfying way of life by remodeling and augmenting their infrastructure in ways that connect neighborhoods and communities Gravel came up with a way to do just that in his hometown with the Atlanta Beltline project It connects 40 diverse Atlanta neighborhoods to city schools shopping districts and public parks and has already seen a huge payoff in real estate development and local business revenue Similar projects are in the works around the country from the Los Angeles River Revitalization and the Buffalo Bayou in Houston to the Midtown Greenway in Minneapolis and the Underline in Miami In Where We Want to Live Gravel presents an exciting blueprint for revitalizing cities to make them places where we truly want to live

How Do We Want to Live? Gerhard Gründer, 2022-01-28 Do you also ask yourself how much your thinking feeling and behavior are determined by your genes and biology Do you doubt that interfering with our brain chemistry will make us happier and more content people Are you skeptical that computer algorithms can capture your essence as a human being This nonfiction book challenges the worldview of divine man Harari in which humans are determined by their biology and medicine serves to optimize them The author shows that we are the active designers of our living conditions and thus determine our own physical and mental health Be inspired to participate in shaping the future of a human society in which we have to decide where we live how we live with each other how we work and how we educate ourselves Target Audiences Ideal for anyone interested in the fundamentals of brain research psychology and psychiatry and who is concerned about the nature of human beings and their future About the Author Prof Dr Gerhard Gr nder psychiatrist and psychotherapist is a professor at the University of Heidelberg He heads the Department of Molecular Neuroimaging at the Central Institute of Mental Health in Mannheim This book is a translation of the original German 1st edition Wie wollen wir leben by Gerhard Gr nder published by Springer Verlag GmbH DE part of Springer Nature in 2020 The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence machine translation by the service DeepL.com A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content so that the book will read stylistically differently from a conventional translation Springer Nature works continuously to further the development of tools for the production of books and on the related technologies to support the authors
