The Logic Of Perception Bradfords:

The Logic of Perception Irvin Rock,1983-01-01 The theory of visual perception that Irvin Rock develops and supports in this book with numerous original experiments views perception as the outcome of a process of unconscious inference problem solving and the building of structural descriptions of the external world Connectionism and the Philosophy of Mind T. Horgan,J. Tienson,2012-12-06 This series will include monographs and collections of studies devoted to the investigation and exploration of knowledge information and data processing systems of all kinds no matter whether human other animal or machine Its scope is intended to span the full range of interests from classical problems in the philosophy of mind and philosophical psychology through issues in cognitive psychology and sociobiology concerning the mental capabilities of other species to ideas related to artificial intelligence and to computer science While primary emphasis will be placed upon theoretical conceptual and epistemological aspects of these problems and domains empirical experimental and methodological studies will also appear from time to time One of the most if not the most exciting developments within cognitive science has been the emergence of connectionism as an alternative to the computational conception of the mind that tends to dominate the discipline In this volume John Tienson and Terence Horgan have brought together a fine collection of stimulating studies on connectionism and its significance As the Introduction explains the most pressing questions concern whether or not connectionism can provide a new conception of the nature of mentality By focusing on the similarities and differences between connectionism and other approaches to cognitive science the chapters of this book supply valuable resources that advance our understanding of these difficult issues J H F The Structure of Thinking Laura E. Wood,2013-06-17 Analytic philosophers and cognitive scientists have long argued that the mind is a computer like syntactical engine and that all human mental capacities can be described as digital computational processes This book presents an alternative naturalistic view of human thinking arguing that computers are merely sophisticated machines Computers are only simulating thought when they crunch symbols not thinking Human cognition semantics de re reference indexicals meaning and causation are all rooted in human experience and life Without life and experience these elements of discourse and knowledge refer to nothing And without these elements of discourse and knowledge syntax is vacant structure not thinking Seeing and Visualizing Zenon W. Pylyshyn,2003 How we see and how we visualize why the scientific account differs from our experience Computers, Brains and Minds P. Slezak,W.R. Albury,2012-12-06 The institutionalization of History and Philosophy of Science as a distinct field of scholarly endeavour began comparatively early though not always under that name in the Australasian region An initial lecturing appointment was made at the University of Melbourne immediately after the Second World War in 1946 and other appointments followed as the subject underwent an expansion during the 1950s and 1960s similar to that which took place in other parts of the world Today there are major Departments at the University of Melbourne the University of New South Wales and the University of Wollongong and smaller groups active in many other parts of Australia and in New Zealand Australasian Studies in History and Philosophy of Science aims to provide a distinctive publication outlet for Australian and New Zealand scholars working in the general area of history philosophy and social studies of science Each volume comprises a group of essays on a connected theme edited by an Australian or a New Zealander with special expertise in that particular area Papers address general issues however rather than local ones parochial topics are avoided Further more though in each volume a majority of the contributors is from Australia or New Zealand contributions from elsewhere are by no means ruled out Quite the reverse in fact they are actively encouraged wherever appropriate to the balance of the volume in question
