Clarke,1985 The Romantic Architecture of Herman Melville's Moby-Dick Shawn Thomson,2001 In this study Shawn Thomson undertakes a consistent and deliberate approach to the form of the novel in an attempt to allow its elements organization and phenomena to answer questions about larger relationships and patterns Thomson s approach asks What is the position of the author in relation to the work what in fact is a center of consciousness and what is real in Moby Dick At the center of the approach is an examination of Ahab s enthusiasm and its parallels to Shelley s sense of the Promethean mission of the artist Shelley exists as an animating presence enlivening the fundamental oppositions of the novel the vertical ascension of Ahab s drama and Ishmael s horizontal integration of feeling thought and experience Thomson explores Ahab s unyielding Romantic imagination an imagination that will not be obstructed or overshadowed by the gross disorder and catastrophic face of nature Ahab s passionate idealism is an extension of Shelley s powerful imagination an obsessive energy that broadens and surpasses Classical and Christian idealism Thomson s line of inquiry places Shelley s Romantic ontology in the industrial world and hostile environment of Moby Dick Ishmael uses metaphor to create an emergent description of the world building a knowledge of the whale and defining his perspective of the universe Ahab shows the failings of inspiration His being is associated with dominating towers monumental heights of grandeur and the mythmaking act Thomson demonstrates how Melville tests and ultimately collapses Shelley s passionate idealism and constructs a new reality in its place Borrowing from Oliver Sacks Shakespeare Richard Wright contemporary art criticism geology and geography this study encompasses this eccentric American novel by building upon traditional approaches and bringing new perspectives into the discussion Thomson blends science aesthetics and theory into an absorbing and full reading of Melville s art BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Maternity, Mortality, and the Literature of Madness Marilyn Yalom, 1985 This book explores the interrelationship between the option and experience of motherhood and the experience of mental breakdown as vividly communicated by 20th century women writers The focus is on three writers Sylvia Plath Marie Cardinal and Margaret Atwood but others are included such as Maxine Hong Kingston Anne Sexton Virginia Woolf and Emma Santos Maternity Mortality and the Literature of Madness calls attention to the ways in which maternity and motherhood represent common forms of apprehension for all women reactivating the fear of death that has been discovered and repressed in childhood and in some instances contributing directly to mental breakdown It offers evidence of the particular stresses encountered by highly gifted women who try to negotiate their way between creation and procreation and write their way out of madness
