Teaching Gender? Tricia Szirom,2017-06-26 Originally published in 1988 This book provides a unique perspective on the creation of gender and the way in which sex education programs in schools contribute to this Through a series of conversations with young people a picture is developed of the way in which young women and young men view their own sexuality and that of the opposite sex The book demonstrates that in spite of the sexual revolution young people s sexuality is still expressed within traditional gender constraints The research reveals that in spite of its radical reputation current sex education policy is consistent with the rest of the school curriculum in failing to address the links between gender stereotypes and the social construction of sexuality sex education implicitly and explicitly reinforces traditional attitudes to women's sexuality The book provides a conceptual framework for the discussion of the construction of gender and the place of theories of sexuality within this examples of young people's attitudes and practice an historical perspective for and current analysis of the provision of sex education and most important practical strategies for change

Gender and Language Learning Daniela Elsner, Viviane Lohe, 2016-06-13 Although Gender Studies have found their way into most domains of academic research and teaching they are not directly in the spotlight of foreign language teaching pedagogy and research However teachers are confronted with gender issues in the language classroom everyday By the use of language alone they construct or deconstruct gender roles with the choice of topics they shape gender identities in the classroom and their ways of approaching pupils clearly mirrors their gender sensitivity The book Gender and Language Learning aims at raising awareness towards gender issues in different areas of foreign language teaching and learning The primary objective of the book is to spark university students trainee teachers and in service teachers analysis and reflection of gender relations in the foreign language learning and teaching section
