TV on Strike Cynthia Littleton,2013-01-31 TV on Strike examines the upheaval in the entertainment industry by telling the inside story of the hundred day writers strike that crippled Hollywood in late 2007 and early 2008 The television industry's uneasy transition to the digital age was the driving force behind the most significant labor dispute of the twenty first century The strike put a spotlight on how the advent of new media distribution platforms is reshaping the traditional business models that have governed the television industry for decades The uncertainty that sent writers out into the streets of Los Angeles and New York with picket signs laid bare the depth of the divide between the media barons who rule the entertainment industry and the writers who are integral as the creators of movies and television shows With both sides afraid of losing millions in future profits a critical communication breakdown spurred a fierce battle with repercussions that continue today The saga of the Writers Guild of America strike is told through the eyes of the key players on both sides of the negotiating table and of the foot soldiers who surprised even themselves with the strength of their resolve to fight for their rights in the face of an ambiguous future In the years since the strike ended the rise of digital distribution platforms has changed the business landscape in ways that few could have predicted when Hollywood guilds were feverishly trying to hammer out a contract template for a new era

The Nation ,1985-07 Labor Literature United States. Department of Labor. Library,1977-05 The Practical Handbook of Garment Dyeing and Cleaning Edward Pawlie,1909 Workers in the Margins Cybèle Locke,2012 Marginalised workers of the late twentieth century were those last hired in times of plenty and first fired in times of recession Often women Maori or people from the Pacific they were frequently unemployed and marginalised within the union movement as well as the labour force WORKERS IN THE MARGINS tells the story of these workers in the tumultuous years of post war New Zealand These were years characterised by massive changes in the workforce as it expanded to accommodate a growing urban Maori population and an increasing desire for women to enter paid work The world of trade unions and employment conflicts such as the 1951 waterfront lockout was vigorous and challenging As free market policies deregulated the labour market and splintered the union movement toward the end of the century Te Roopu Rawakore o Aotearoa the national unemployed and beneficiaries movement gave a new voice to workers in the margins The people of this history come to life through oral histories from the poet and boilermaker Hone Tuwhare building a palisade at Orakei through to activists Sue Bradford and Jane Stevens working with the unemployed in the 1980s and 90s Their experiences speak to the lives of many workers of the early twenty first century
