

Understanding Language

(Ages Two to Three)

Understanding language, also known as 'receptive language', is the ability to understand spoken language and respond to it appropriately. This involves the understanding of words, sentences and questions.

Between the ages of two and three years old, toddlers may:

follow and remember a simple short story with pictures understand and answer simple 'who', 'what' and 'where' questions develop simple language understand simple instructions and actions, such as 'sit on the floor' and 'pick up the toy' give a simple response to what begin to make a simple sentence, such as 'I like to play with my toys' and 'I like to play with my toys'

These are the expected outcomes for children aged two to three years old. Children may not achieve all of these outcomes at the same time and may achieve some of them before others.
