ago humans believed that Earth was the center of the universe that the world they lived on was all there was Truthfully the solar system extends almost halfway to the nearest star And it is composed of not only planets asteroids and comets but also powerful forces and vast fields of energy This is our solar system s big backyard The cold dark world that lies at the farthest reaches of our solar system holds a vast collection of secrets and for most of human history we had no idea anything was out there But driven by curiosity and equipped with new technology astronomers have determined that beyond the orbit of Neptune are countless icy comets strange particles that dance under the influence of the sun and signs of undiscovered planets To learn more about these far flung objects scientists have finally begun to explore the distant solar system finding answers to age old questions at the same time that they encounter new mysteries With Ron Miller s incredible illustrations and photographs from NASA probes and telescopes The Big Backyard takes us on a tour through the solar system s most obscure neighborhoods and into its darkest corners to places beyond the limits of the human eye Miller expertly describes the formation of the solar system and the history of the exploration of the outer solar system before delving into the latest discoveries and missions Read on to learn what sorts of objects orbit at such extreme distances what happens at the boundary between the sun s influence and interstellar space whether there is such a thing as the mysterious Planet X and how life on Earth could not exist without the happenings at the edge of the solar system The World's Work ,1919 A history of our time Annual Meeting of the Missouri State Horticultural Society Missouri State Horticultural Society,1897 Journal of the Royal Society of Arts ,1874 World's Work ,1915 Journal of the American Geographical Society of New York ,1891 Art and Handicraft in the Woman's Building of the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893 Maud Howe Elliott,1893 The Edinburgh Review ,1884 Monthly Bulletin New York Chamber of Commerce,1921 A New Library of Poetry and Song William Cullen Bryant,1900 Robert Rauschenberg Sara Sinclair,Peter Bearman,Mary Marshall Clark,2019-08-06 Robert Rauschenberg 1925 2008 was a breaker of boundaries and a consummate collaborator He used silk screen prints to reflect on American promise and failure melded sculpture and painting in works called combines and collaborated with engineers and scientists to challenge our thinking about art Through collaborations with John Cage Merce Cunningham and others Rauschenberg bridged the music dance and visual art worlds inventing a new art for the last half of the twentieth century Robert Rauschenberg is a work of collaborative oral biography that tells the story of one of the twentieth century s great artists through a series of interviews with key figures in his life family friends former lovers professional associates studio assistants and collaborators The oral historian Sara Sinclair artfully puts the narrators reminiscences in conversation with a focus on the relationship between Rauschenberg s intense social life and his art The book opens with a prologue by Rauschenberg s sister and then shifts to New York City s 1950s and 60s art scene populated by the luminaries of abstract expressionism It follows Rauschenberg s eventual move to Florida s Captiva Island and his trips across the globe illuminating his inner life and its effect on his and others art The narrators share their views on Rauschenberg's work explore the curatorial thinking behind exhibitions of his art and reflect on the impact of the influx of money into the contemporary art market. Included are artists famous in their own right such as Laurie Anderson and Brice Marden as well as art world insiders and lesser known figures who were part of Rauschenberg's inner circle. Beyond considering Rauschenberg as an artist, this book reveals him as a man embedded in a series of art worlds over the course of a long and rich life, demonstrating the complex interaction of business and personal, public and private in the creation of great art.
