Joycean Legacies Martha C. Carpentier, 2015-04-28 These twelve essays analyze the complex pleasures and problems of engaging with James Joyce for subsequent writers discussing Joyce's textual stylistic formal generic and biographical influence on an intriguing selection of Irish British American and postcolonial writers from the 1940s to the twenty-first century Race in Irish Literature and Culture Malcolm Sen, Julie McCormick Weng, 2024-01-18 Race in Irish Literature and Culture provides an in-depth understanding of intersections between Irish literature culture and questions of race racialization and racism Covering a vast historical terrain from the sixteenth century to the present it spotlights the work of canonical understudied and contemporary authors in Ireland Northern Ireland and among diasporic Irish communities By focusing on questions related to Black Irish identities Irish whiteness Irish racial sciences postcolonial solidarities and decolonial strategies to address racialization the volume moves beyond the familiar frameworks of British Irish and Catholic Protestant binarisms and demonstrates methods for Irish Studies scholars to engage with the question of race from a contemporary perspective Irish Women Writers Ann Owens Weekes, 2021-10-21 From the legendary poet Oisín to modernist masters like James Joyce William Butler Yeats and Samuel Beckett Ireland's literary tradition has made its mark on the Western canon Despite its proud tradition the student who searches the shelves for works on Irish women's fiction is liable to feel much as Virginia Woolf did when she searched the British Museum for work on women by women Critic Nuala O Faolain when confronted with this disparity suggested that modern Irish literature is dominated by men so brilliant in their misanthropy that the self-respect of Irish women is radically and paradoxically checkmated by respect for an Irish national achievement While Ann Owen Weekes does not argue with the first part of O Faolain's assertion she does with the second In Irish Women Writers An Uncharted Tradition she suggests that it is the critics rather than the writers who have allowed themselves to be checkmated Beginning with Maria Edgeworth's Castle Rackrent 1800 and ending with Jennifer Johnston's The Railway Station 1980 she surveys the best of the Ireland's female literature to show its artistic and historic significance and to demonstrate that it has its own themes and traditions related to yet separate from that of male Irish writers Weekes

examines the work of writers like E OE Sumerville and Martin Ross pen names for cousins Edith Somerville and Violet Martin Elizabeth Bowen Kate O'Brien Mary Lavin and Molly Keane among others She teases out the themes that recur in these writers works including the link between domestic and political violence and re-visioning of traditional stories such as Julia O Faolain's use of the Cuchulain and Diarmuid and Grainne myths to reveal the negation of women's autonomy In doing so she demonstrates that the literature of Anglo and Gaelic Irish women presents a unified tradition of subjects and techniques a unity that might become an optimistic model not only for Irish literature but also for Irish people
