Strategic Direction And Development Of The School:

The New Strategic Direction and Development of the School Brent Davies, Linda Ellison, 2003 Schools will not be able to continue to improve unless they move away from an over concentration on the short term and focus on the strategic nature of planning and development The more targets the less the effects what we need is strategy and sustainability This book links school improvement planning and strategic development for leadership enhancement as well as for management accountability Short term planning in the form of target setting plans aimed at improving standards has gained increasing importance While the book agrees that this is necessary it puts forward the view that short term planning is not sufficient for the longer term development of the school Sustainability and strategic development are of critical importance and for these the authors believe that a more holistic approach to planning is necessary To that end this book links short and longer term planning in a framework which supports the strategic development of the school The authors are national experts in the field and in preparing this text have worked extensively with headteachers deputy headteachers governors and those participating in NPQH and masters programmes in educational leadership and management

Strategy in Action Rachel E. Curtis,Elizabeth A. City,2009-09-01 How can we systemically improve the quality of classroom instruction and the learning and achievement of students In an era when isolated examples of excellence are not good enough we need systems that support improvement and excellence for all This book describes how systems can effectively engage in this complex challenging and crucial work The authors explore three core competencies of high performing school systems 1 understanding what the work is a deep understanding of the core business of facilitating learning a vision of what that looks like and an awareness of where the system is in relation to that vision 2 knowing how to do the work a theory of action for improving instruction a focus on key strategies and effective alignment of resources and 3 building the individual and organizational habits of mind that foster continuous improvement Each chapter includes examples that illustrate key concepts in action questions to spur self assessment in key areas of competence and tools and resources for building capacity at different levels and stages of development

Successful Strategic Planning Michael Dooris, John Kelley, James F. Trainer, 2004-12-21 Planning reflects the human appetite to improve our condition In higher education improving one's condition includes hiring better faculty recruiting stronger students upgrading facilities strengthening academic programs and student services and acquiring the resources needed to accomplish these things The strategic part of strategic planning involves shaping the institution in ways that will ensure mission attainment by capturing and maintaining a market niche in the competition for resources faculty and students This is the 123rd issue of the Jossey Bass higher education report New Directions for Institutional Research
