Ronan,2016-03-02 Document from the year 2000 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics University of Marburg language English abstract This study investigates the tense and aspect systems in use in Irish English which is also called Hiberno English Against the background of previous research corpus material mainly consisting of Dublin English is discussed The corpus consists of close to a quarter of a million words collected manually mainly from written text with some additional examples from participant observation In addition to investigating the tense and aspect forms in use possibilities for the geneses of the categories are discussed and the potential influence from Early Modern English and Late Modern English is assessed as well as the potential input from the Irish language It is suggested that the tense system corresponds to that of Standard British English whereas the aspectual system differs to varying degrees in perfect progressive and habitual marking It is further argued that the majority of the specially used aspectual categories in Hiberno English could have been influenced in their development by influence from both the Irish language i e Gaelic and by influence from earlier British English language structures which were in use during the formative stages of the variety This is not the case for the distinctive Hiberno English after perfect however which is entirely modeled on a corresponding Irish language structure The Tense-mood-aspect System of Biblical Hebrew, with Special Emphasis on 1 & 2 Samuel Susan Rattray,1992 The Creation of Tense and Aspect Systems in the Languages of the World Joan L. informing specialists about Japanese dialectology's methods and achievements. It focuses on mainland dialects including the Hachij language while a separate handbook covers the Ryukyuan languages now regarded as sister languages of Japanese.

Introduction to Indo-European Linguistics Oswald Szemerényi, Oswald John Louis Szemerényi, 1999 Professor Szemerényi's Einführung in die vergleichende Sprachwissenschaft first published in 1970 remains the standard introduction to comparative Indo-European linguistics. Updated and revised for its English translation it appears here in a new paperback format. The introductory section presents a general survey of the principles of diachronic comparative linguistics and the remainder of the book is a thorough and detailed analysis according to those principles of the phonological and morphological structure of the Indo-European group of languages. Each section of the book has a detailed bibliography so that the student can progress from the general overview to a more detailed examination of particular topics. Over the past few decades the book series Linguistische Arbeiten Linguistic Studies comprising over 500 volumes has made a significant contribution to the development of linguistic theory both in Germany and internationally.
