

Clarendon was not named after a person, but rather a famous prison in Oxford, England. It was designed in 1845 by Robert Besley for the Fann Street Foundry. At the end of the nineteenth century, this typeface was a departure from the popular slab-serif Antiques and Egyptians. The first 'related bold' for emphasis in text was contained in the Clarendon typeface.

When Besley's patent expired after three years, many others copied the face in the second half of the nineteenth century. It is often seen in wood letterpress work and the "WANTED" signs of the American old west.
