WE HAVE A DREAM

A photograph of two ballerinas in a studio. The ballerina on the left is wearing a dark green leotard and a light blue tutu, and has a prosthetic left leg. The ballerina on the right is also in a dark green leotard and light blue tutu. They are both in a balletic pose, with their arms extended and legs lifted. The background shows a window with a view of a city.

What We Have:

What We Have Done Fred Pelka,2012 Compelling first person accounts of the struggle to secure equal rights for Americans with disabilities

What We Have Lost Robert Lee,2015-04-19 When the hen lays her eggs the shells are soft and pliable forming their durable armour as they experience the outside world Each of us enters the world with similar flawed and weak shells Our shells are not broken and cracked by life but are formed of the fragments that we encounter piece by piece growing more complete with each experience

What We Have Lost is a series of disconnected anecdotes in the lives of a family shaped by extreme poverty These individual narratives chronicle the slow sculpting of the characters as they fuse with their world enveloped in mental illness Molded by their mother s paranoia social isolation and obsessive drive to instill the hunger for learning and sense of duty to others the four siblings evolve in unique and often pathological ways Not knowing or understanding the bonds of familial love Garry Judy Rob and Roger need to discover their own path to personal peace None may make it

What We Have Lost exposes the cruelty of poverty It opens up the heart of that world in surprising and convoluted ways The pathos is clear the hidden pleasures need unearthing

What We Have Lost is a collection of anecdotes but as you read you will find that they are far from disconnected after all
