Without troubling to look at his watch, he informed the two young foreigners that they had a long hour to wait before the cable railway would send a car down to the Campagna. His lazy nonchalance was faintly colored with the satisfaction common to his profession in the discomfiture of travelers. Their look upon him was of amazed gratitude. Evidently they did not understand Italian; he thought and repeated his information more slowly, with an unrecognizable word or two of badly pronounced English thrown in. He felt slightly vexed that he could not make them feel the proper annoyance and added, "It may even be so late that the signori would miss the connection for the last tramway car back to Rome. It is a long walk back to the city across the Campagna."
