scientific foundations of psychology

10-14%

Psychology is the scientific study of behavior and mental processes. This unit examined the history of psychology, psychological theories, contemporary perspectives on psychology, and how psychological research is conducted. As scientists, psychologists collect data and make observations about the ways in which humans and animals behave and think in order to understand behavior and mental processes. Psychologists use a variety of research methods and designs to conduct their research. These tools help them develop psychological theories about behavior and mental processes. To ensure that their results are valid and reliable, psychologists' research must adhere to strict ethical and procedural guidelines. Historical research is the foundation of the field of psychology and has become the basis for the many subfields within psychology that exist today.

Introductory psychology covers such a wide range of topics and issues that it becomes difficult for readers to see the forest for the trees To make key psychological concepts more meaningful the authors found inspiration in a classic chess study This study showed that experts did no better than novices at remembering the location of pieces on a chess board when they were placed randomly Only when the patterns represented actual game situations did they make sense and therefore become more easily memorable for the experts Clearly meaningful patterns are easier to remember and understand than random arrangements and Psychology applies this by presenting the field of psychology in meaningful patterns to enhance comprehension These concepts are then applied to readers own lives study skills and the world around them Finally Psychology integrates a cross cultural and multicultural perspective to make psychology meaningful for everyone For anyone interested in Introductory Psychology     Understanding Psychology Mylab Edition Value Pack (Includes Study Guide for Understanding Psychology & Myspychlab Pegasus with E-Book Student Access ) Charles G.
