Workforce Readiness:

Workforce Readiness Harold F. O'Neil, Jr., Harold F. O'Neil, 2014-03-05 Current economic difficulties and the challenge of competing in the world market have necessitated a rethinking of American approaches to the utilization of people in organizations Management now recognizes a need to have workers take on more responsibility at the points of production of sale and of service rendered if the United States is to compete in rapidly changing world markets This development means that much more is expected of even entry level members of the American workforce Thus even more is expected of our high schools and colleges to provide this type of workforce The need of American management for workers with greater skills and who can take on greater responsibility has spawned many commissions task forces and studies All of them have contributed to the vast evidence documenting the need for a more highly skilled workforce These studies are summarized and synthesized in this book However what remains largely undone is the development of methods to assess the necessary skills that have been identified A major portion of this book deals with assessment issues Workforce Readiness Competencies and Assessment explores the state of the art in the specification of competencies skills and their assessment for students entering the world of work from both high school and college Both individual and team competencies are examined via data that has been reported and collected in various settings schools laboratories and industrial facilities

A Ready and Resilient Workforce for the Department of Homeland Security Committee on the Department of Homeland Security Workforce Resilience, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Institute of Medicine, 2013-12-10 The responsibilities of the Department of Homeland Security DHS range from preventing foreign and domestic terrorist attacks securing the nation's borders safeguarding transportation systems responding to natural disasters nuclear detection and more Created in 2002 from a merger that rapidly incorporated parts of eight cabinet departments and 22 government agencies DHS has struggled to integrate its numerous components and their unique cultures While DHS is very accomplished at performing its many missions the nature of the DHS work environment is inherently stressful and employees suffer from low morale A Ready and Resilient Workforce for the Department of Homeland Security Protecting America's Front Line reviews current workforce resilience efforts identifies gaps and provides recommendations for a 5 year strategy to improve DHS Together the current DHS workforce resilience program This report stresses the importance of strong leadership communication measurement and evaluation in the organization and recommends content for a 5 year plan that will promote centralized strategic direction and resource investment to improve readiness and resilience at the department While all DHS component agencies share a common mission each have distinct roles with different stressors attached making implementation of an organization wide resilience or wellness program difficult The recommendations of A Ready and Resilient Workforce for the Department of Homeland Security outline how DHS can focus its efforts on creating a common culture of workforce readiness and resilience while recognizing the distinct proud celebrated cultures of its component agencies

Workforce Readiness and the Future of Work Fred Oswald, Tara S. Behrend, Lori Foster, 2019-02-07 Workforce readiness is an issue that is of great national and societal importance For the United States and other countries to thrive in a globally interconnected environment of wide ranging opportunities and threats the need to develop and maintain a skilled and adaptable workforce is critical National investments in job training and schools remain essential in stimulating businesses and employment agencies to collaborate productively with educators who provide both training and vocational guidance Workforce Readiness and the Future of Work argues that the large scale multifaceted efforts required to ensure a reliable and strong supply of talent and skill in the U S workforce should be addressed systematically simultaneously and systemically across disciplines of thought and levels of analysis In a four part framework the authors cover the major areas of education in the K 12 vocational postsecondary and STEM arenas economic and labor market considerations employment organizations and the world of work laws policies and budgets at the federal state local and military levels With contributions from leading scholars this volume informs high priority workforce effectiveness issues of current and future concern and concrete research practice and policy directions to generate novel insights of a multilevel and system wide nature Workforce Readiness Harold F. O'Neil, Jr., Harold F. O'Neil, 2014-03-05 Current economic difficulties and the challenge of competing in the world market have necessitated a rethinking of American approaches to the utilization of people in organizations Management now recognizes a need to have workers take on more responsibility at the points of production of sale and of service rendered if the United States is to compete in rapidly changing world markets This development means that much more is expected of even entry level members of the American workforce Thus even more is expected of our high schools and colleges to provide this type of workforce The need of American management for workers with greater skills and who can take on greater responsibility has spawned many commissions task forces and studies All of them have contributed to the vast evidence documenting the need for a more highly skilled workforce These studies are summarized and synthesized in this book However what remains largely undone is the development of methods to assess the necessary skills that have been identified A major portion of this book deals with assessment issues Workforce Readiness Competencies and Assessment explores the state of the art in the specification of competencies skills and their assessment for students entering the world of work from both high school and college Both individual and team competencies are examined via data that has been reported and collected in various settings schools laboratories and industrial facilities The Workforce Readiness System New Jersey. State Employment and Training Commission, 1990 P-20 Partnerships Elizabeth E. Smith, 2021-03-31 Tracing the historical development of partnerships between schools universities and communities P 20 Partnerships A Critical Examination of the Past and Future provides educators and policymakers with a framework for understanding how partnerships originated and their potential for the future This book connects Dewey s lab schools Goodlad s ideas about simultaneous renewal and Professional Development Schools with today s next generation P 20 partnerships and Cradle to Career networks After examining the history and development of P 20 partnerships we are able to categorize partnerships into three different types depending on the purpose of their outcomes partnerships to improve P 12 schools partnerships to improve access to post secondary opportunities and Research Practice Partnerships Rather than categorizing partnerships by their activities and curricula this book proposes that their goals for their students are what should define these school systems Building Better Students Jeremy Burrus, Krista Mattern, Bobby D. Naemi, Richard D. Roberts, 2017 This volume discusses issues surrounding workforce readiness in the 21st century Leading experts from psychology education and the workforce present cutting edge research on the topic Building Better Students stands at the forefront of offering readers promising new directions for reducing the emerging skills gap Global Biosecurity Peter Katona, John P. Sullivan, Michael D. Intriligator, 2010-01-21 This book explores a range of biohealth and biosecurity threats places them in context and offers responses and solutions from global and local networked and pyramidal as well as specialized and interdisciplinary perspectives Specifically covering bioterrorism emerging infectious diseases pandemic disease preparedness and remediation agroterrorism food safety and environmental issues the contributors demonstrate that to counter terrorism of any kind a global networked and multidisciplinary approach is essential To be successful in biosecurity this book argues it is necessary to extend partnerships cooperation and coordination between public health clinical medicine private business law enforcement and other agencies locally nationally and internationally Internationally a clear understanding is needed of what has happened in past epidemics and what was accomplished in past bioprograms in Britain South Africa Russia for example This book also assesses how with the right technology and motivation both a state and a non state actor could initiate an extremely credible biothreat to security at both local and national levels This book will be of much interest to students researchers and practitioners of security studies public health public policy and IR in general Peter Katona is Associate Professor of Clinical Medicine at the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA in Infectious Diseases He is co founder of Biological Threat Mitigation a bioterror consulting firm John P Sullivan is a lieutenant with the Los Angeles Sheriff s Department He is also a researcher focusing on terrorism conflict disaster intelligence studies and urban operations He is co founder of the Los Angeles Terrorism Early Warning TEW Group Michael D Intriligator is Professor of Economics at the University of California Los Angeles UCLA He is also Professor of Political Science Professor of Public Policy in the School of Public Policy and Social Research and Co Director of the Jacob Marschak Interdisciplinary Colloquium on Mathematics in the Behavioral Sciences all at UCLA
