The Secret Integration:

The Secret Integration Thomas Pynchon, 1980 Out of Touch Maureen F. Curtin, 2013-09-13 Out of Touch investigates how skin has become a crucial but disavowed figure in twentieth century literature theory and cultural criticism. These discourses reveal the extent to which skin figures in the cultural effect of changes in visual technologies a development argued by critics to be at the heart of the contest between surface and depth and by extension Western globalization and identity politics. The skin has a complex history as a metaphorical terrain over which ideological wars are fought identity is asserted through modification as in tattooing and meaning is inscribed upon the human being. Yet even as interventions on the skin characterize much of this history fantasy and science fiction literature and film trumpet skin's passing in the cybernetic age and feminist theory calls for abandoning the skin as a hostile boundary.

Communities in Fiction J. Hillis Miller, 2014-12-02 Communities in Fiction reads six novels or stories one each by Trollope Hardy Conrad Woolf Pynchon and Cervantes in the light of theories of community worked out contradictorily by Raymond Williams Martin Heidegger and Jean Luc Nancy. The book's topic is the question of how communities or noncommunities are represented in fictional works. Such fictional communities help the reader understand real communities including those in which the reader lives. As against the presumption that the trajectory in literature from Victorian to modern to postmodern is the story of a gradual loss of belief in the possibility of community this book demonstrates that communities have always been presented in fiction as precarious and fractured. Moreover the juxtaposition of Pynchon and Cervantes in the last chapter demonstrates that period characterizations are never to be trusted. All the features both thematic and formal that recent critics and theorists such as Fredric Jameson and many others have found to characterize postmodern fiction are already present in Cervantes's wonderful early seventeenth century Exemplary Story The Dogs Colloquy. All the themes and narrative devices of Western fiction from the beginning of the print era to the present were there at the beginning in Cervantes. Most of all however Communities in Fiction looks in detail at its six fictions striving to see just what they say what stories they tell and what narratological and rhetorical devices they use to say what they do say and to tell the stories they do tell. The book attempts to communicate to its readers the joy of reading these works and to argue for the exemplary insight they provide into what Heidegger called Mitsein being together in communities that are
