Soul Of The Congregation An Invitation To Congregational Reflection:

The Soul of the Congregation Thomas Edward Frank, 2000 Thomas Edward Frank points out that the dominant paradigm of many contemporary books about church administration reflects an underlying theology of progress a distilling of the gospel into self worth a conflation of basilea with market growth According to Frank good fortune and blessing are confused praise and good feeling are identified This paradigm of success and progress however fails to account adequately for the vision of the believers presence in the world as ecclesia The soul of the congregation argues Frank is a way of being and being in the world and not didactic or productive Every congregation is a unique culture comprising the artifacts practices values outlooks symbols stories language ritual and collective character that makes it particularly itself This culture or soul is an outgrowth of the life together of a particular mix of individuals families ethnic and community forms that have connected in a certain place over time By carefully observing congregational culture leaders and participants can deepen understanding and appreciation for the congregation as it has endured and recognize possibilities for ministry derived from the congregation s values and strengths In a series of delightful letters and engrossing reflections Frank invites us to practice this art of discernment of seeing listening paying attention and spinning webs of connection with experiences memories traditions and ideas that have gone before Rather than reach for some newfangled church marketing or growth paradigm that does not feed the soul he urges us to lean on what we already have among us In so doing we will rediscover the soul of the congregation of which we are already a part

Greenhouses of Hope Dorie Grinenko Baker, 2010-11-12 Do you know a church where young people regularly shape the liturgy with words that speak their truth in ways that also inspire their elders Do you hear about congregations that reach out in quirky new ways to their ailing neighborhoods instead of locking doors and shipping out to a suburb Do you find churches creating hospitable space that invites the live wriggling questions and doubts of young people in unhurried unworried ways Do you see congregations where young people s gifts are not stored in the basement or bracketed into contemporary worship services but are brought forth and celebrated The authors who collaborated on this book launched a quest for such vibrant life giving greening congregations and observed the diverse practices that grow there They named these churches Greenhouses of Hope A Greenhouse of Hope is a Christian congregation freeing itself to experiment with both newly imagined and time honored ways of following the path of Jesus Its members respond to God s love through practices that genuinely embrace the gifts of youth and young adults Out of these greenhouses emerge young leaders who want to change the world In Greenhouses of Hope Dori Baker and six contributors tell the stories of these remarkable congregations helping others think about how they can create space for the dreams of young people to be grafted into God s dreams for the world

Transformative Pastoral Leadership in the Black Church J. Tribble, 2005-07-04 Transformative Pastoral Leadership in the Black Church offers practical wisdom from comparative analysis of the experiences of a male pastor and a female pastor in the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church

Church leaders must be transformed themselves as they are transforming their churches to serve their communities From his research of the perspectives of laity clergy and scholars of the black church Jeffery L Tribble offers hopeful stories and helpful strategies for those who believe that the black church must continue its historic mission of being an instrument of survival elevation and liberation for its people Transformative Pastoral Leadership in the Black Church is an important contribution to studies of black religion womanist thought and social justice Believing in Preaching: what Listeners Hear in , Reckoning Methodism Darryl W.
