

The background of the cover is a monochromatic orange-toned illustration. It depicts a tropical landscape with several palm trees of varying heights. In the foreground, there are terraced fields or rows of crops, possibly sugarcane, arranged in neat, parallel lines. The overall style is reminiscent of a woodcut or a detailed drawing. The text is overlaid on this background.

Sowing Empire:

Sowing Empire Jill H. Casid, 2005-01-01 In an ambitious work of wide ranging literary visual and historical allusion Jill H Casid examines how landscaping functioned in an imperial mode that defined and remade the heartlands of nations as well as the contact zones and colonial peripheries in the West and East Indies Revealing the colonial landscape as far more than an agricultural system as a means of regulating national sexual and gender identities Casid also traces how the circulation of plants and hybridity influenced agriculture and landscaping on European soil and how colonial contacts materially shaped what we take as European Sowing Empire Jill H. Casid, 1999 Bundok Adrian De Leon, 2023-12-05 From the late eighteenth century the hinterlands of Northern Luzon and its Indigenous people were in the crosshairs of imperial and capitalist extraction Combining the breadth of global history with the intimacy of biography Adrian De Leon follows the people of Northern Luzon across space and time advancing a new vision of the United States s Pacific empire that begins with the natives and migrants who were at the heart of colonialism and its everyday undoing From the emergence of Luzon s eighteenth century tobacco industry and the Hawaii Sugar Planters Association s documentation of workers to the movement of people and ideas across the Suez Canal and the stories of Filipino farmworkers in the American West De Leon traces the Filipino as a racial category emerging from the labor subjugation archiving and resistance of native people De Leon s imaginatively constructed archive yields a sweeping history that promises to reshape our understanding of race making in the Pacific world Visualizing Egypt Paulina Banas, 2025-04-15 Illustrated publications and the role of market forces in shaping representations of Egypt at a time when European colonial interests in the region were at their peak with 80 color and black and white illustrations In the nineteenth century following Napoleon Bonaparte s 1798 campaign in Egypt new possibilities of travel and improvements in printing technology saw an emergence of publishing ventures in France and Britain dedicated to the production of albums and travel accounts featuring images of Muslim Egypt and Islamic architecture and catering to a growing European fascination with the East Visualizing Egypt analyzes the context and process of production of these highly illustrated publications from their conceptualization to the finished product and its afterlife from marketing to the sales of these books and from circulation to their reception by nineteenth century audiences By tracing the long arduous and often risky publishing journeys of the makers of these books including publishers writers and artists such as the Frenchman mile Prisse d Avennes Paulina Banas reveals a complex terrain of changing market demands collaborations and conflicting views and the unsettled authorship of these works prompting us to think more profoundly about artistic and intellectual exchange in the world of nineteenth century Orientalist book production Visualizing Egypt considers nineteenth century book illustrations on Egypt and the Orient not merely as expressions of enduring ideology and colonial propaganda but as representations shaped by the often overlooked commercial exigencies of the growing publishing industry and the reckless competition within it Understories: Plants and Culture in the American Tropics Lesley Wylie, 2023-11-15

Understories Plants and Culture in the American Tropics establishes the central importance of plants to the histories and cultures of the extended tropical region stretching from the U S South to Argentina Through close examination of a number of significant plants cacao mate agave the hevea brasiliensis kudzu the breadfruit soy and the ceiba pentandra among others this volume shows that vegetal life has played a fundamental role in shaping societies and in formulating cultural and environmental imaginaries in and beyond the region Drawing on a wide range of cultural traditions and forms across literature popular music art and film the essays included in this volume transcend regional and linguistic boundaries to bring together multiple plant centred histories or understories narratives that until now have been marginalized or gone unnoticed Attending not only to the significant influence of humans on plants but also of plants on humans this book offers new understandings of how colonization globalization and power were and continue to be imbricated with nature in the American tropics

Country houses and the British Empire, 1700-1930 Stephanie Barczewski,2017-02-01 Country houses and the British empire 1700 1930 assesses the economic and cultural links between country houses and the Empire between the eighteenth and twentieth centuries Using sources from over fifty British and Irish archives it enables readers to better understand the impact of the empire upon the British metropolis by showing both the geographical variations and its different cultural manifestations Barczewski offers a rare scholarly analysis of the history of country houses that goes beyond an architectural or biographical study and recognises their importance as the physical embodiments of imperial wealth and reflectors of imperial cultural influences In so doing she restores them to their true place of centrality in British culture over the last three centuries and provides fresh insights into the role of the Empire in the British metropolis

The Caribbean and the Medical Imagination, 1764-1834 Emily Senior,2018-04-26 During the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries the Caribbean was known as the grave of Europeans At the apex of British colonialism in the region between 1764 and 1834 the rapid spread of disease amongst colonist enslaved and indigenous populations made the Caribbean notorious as one of the deadliest places on earth Drawing on historical accounts from physicians surgeons and travellers alongside literary works Emily Senior traces the cultural impact of such widespread disease and death during the Romantic age of exploration and medical and scientific discovery Focusing on new fields of knowledge such as dermatology medical geography and anatomy Senior shows how literature was crucial to the development and circulation of new medical ideas and that the Caribbean as the hub of empire played a significant role in the changing disciplines and literary forms associated with the transition to modernity
